LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—The central government has declared a state of emergency in the diamond-rich south Kasai province after a new revolt by supporters of self-styled "King" Albert Kalonji.

The United Nations reported they revolted against a faction loyal to the central government.

JFK MOVES TO BLOCK DOCK STRIKE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Longshoremen from Maine to Texas went on strike today. President Kennedy promptly invoked the Taft-Hartley law in an effort to halt the walkout.

The president named a three-member inquiry board to study the dispute as the first step toward obtaining a federal court injunction to stop the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Nearly 90,000 dock workers went off the job after their contract expired at midnight. This paralyzed shipping in ports along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, leaving vessels with their cargo unloaded.

Commons Waits Speech By Pearson

(Special to the Times)
OTTAWA—A tense House of Commons today awaited the opening of hostilities at the new session.

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson was scheduled to lead off the opposition assault on the Diefenbaker government later this afternoon and move a no-confidence motion this evening.

The opposition leader was delayed in getting the floor by a lengthy question period and by the introduction of bills.

Next in line to speak are Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Social Credit leader Robert Thompson and H. W. Herdige, NDP House leader.

Mr. Pearson's speaking time today is unlimited, however, and it's doubtful whether the prime minister will get the floor much before the scheduled 10 p.m. adjournment.

Wording of the Liberal no-confidence motion still is secret and all parties will be waiting anxiously for it.

Mr. Pearson has said he intends to make his motion in a form which the other two opposition groups will find difficult to oppose. If they accept the government topples.

A vote on the Liberal no-confidence motion is to take place Thursday night, just before adjournment.

U.K. Plant Struck

COVENTRY, England (AP)—Five thousand men went on strike at the giant Jaguar automobile plant today, halting all production.

To his young wife—shocked into hospital herself by the ordeal—life by her own admission has taken on a different color.

"I knew he'd come out of it," she said. "He's Irish, and you can't stop an Irishman."

Mr. Johnston was fetched in by Royal Canadian Air Force helicopter Sunday from the mountainside above the Hope-Princeton Highway where he had lain helpless beside his smashed plane since Thursday, when a 200-mile flight from Castlegar to Patricia Bay ended against a timbered ridge.

CIVILIAN PILOT

He was spotted by Gordon June, one of a number of civilian pilots who joined RCAF Search and Rescue in an all-out hunt for the former air force flyer.

"It's a miracle," said Mrs. Johnston, who came to Vancouver Island with her husband and their baby daughter from Edmonton two months ago. "He's safe, and right now, that's all that matters. I'm not asking for more than that."

Mr. Johnston's escape was miraculous—sketchy accounts indicate that his single-engine Cessna plowed through tree-tops and flipped when "it struck—but his finding and rescue is a story of skilled searchers pattern-flying over some of the wildest terrain in North America.

Known as the "aircraft graveyard," this rugged triangle of mountains and gorges has claimed two civilian airliners and several military planes for a score of well over 100 lives. It makes its own weather, generally foul, and radio communication has a nasty trick of blanking out amid its tall peaks and steep-sided troughs.

The Cessna was last heard from as it crossed the perimeter of the graveyard at 10:45 a.m. Thursday between Princeton and Hope. Its pilot reported strong turbulence, gusty winds, and heavy rain.

'TERRIBLE CRASH'

Mr. Johnston, whose condition is reported "satisfactory," picks up the account here:

"I don't know what went wrong," he said from his hospital bed. "First thing I can remember is the terrible crash. I crawled out of the plane, blood all over me, then just lay next to it."

"I don't know what time it was—I couldn't think clearly. What worried me most was thirst. I'd have given anything for a glass of water."

"I was dazed and time meant nothing, except that I was thirsty."

"I could hear a stream nearby but I couldn't crawl to it. My hands, my feet and my chest hurt."

"I can remember it rained."

AT LEAST 50 DEAD IN HIMALAYAS

2,500 Trapped by Slide

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—An Indian Air Force helicopter today dropped food and medical supplies to 2,500 men trapped a week ago by an avalanche in the Spiti area of the Himalayas.

Aid reached the men—a party of laborers returning from a roadbuilding project in a strategic area near India's border with Tibet—for the first time since they were trapped in a valley by the slide of ice and rock from a glacier.

Earlier attempts to fly in supplies were foiled by heavy clouds.

At least fifty of the trapped Indian and Tibetan workers were reported to have died. Some suffered frostbite and snowblindness and their supplies of food and medicine were low.

The laborers, including Tibetan refugees, have been employed by the Indian government on building roads to provide supply routes to Indian forces threatened by Chinese in the Ladakh border area.

Sons Renew Agassiz Trek

HOPE (CP)—Freedomites became trekkers again this weekend, moving 90 miles from Princeton into this village at the head of the Fraser Valley.

It will be a month Tuesday since the Freedomites left their homes in the Kootenay, 300 miles to the east, after announcing their intention of marching on Agassiz, where 68 Freedomite terrorists are held in Mountain Prison.

The Doukhobors have marched and been shuttled westward in cars. Long camping stops were made near Grand Forks and at Bromley Park, a government campsite east of Princeton.

Agassiz, on the north side of the Fraser River, is 35 miles west of here.

About 400 of the 1,000-odd Doukhobor Camp members arrived here Sunday and the rest were expected to follow as quickly as cars could carry them in. One police officer said there was no traffic trouble as about 20 cars shuffled back and forth Sunday over the Hope-Princeton Highway.

STAY IN PARK

The Doukhobors are staying in Coquihalla Park, a village owned site.

Paul Scherle, chairman of the village commission, said earlier the Sons could use the site for two days before they moved on to Agassiz. He added that now the group is not likely to move until Wednesday at the earliest.

Agassiz is a part of Kent municipality which passed an emergency bylaw two weeks ago saying the Freedomites couldn't enter Agassiz, because their past record of violence constituted a hazard. There was no indication what attempts, if any, will be made to prevent the Sons from entering.

Other bylaws prevent residency by the Sons near Mountain Prison.

Little Rock Riots Magnified to War

By REILMAN MORIN
OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Little Rock was a skirmish. Oxford is a war.

The riots just five years ago in the capital of Arkansas were ugly and dangerous. In Oxford, the ugliness and danger is magnified to a gigantic scale.

And one of the ironies of the situation here is that former major-general Edwin A. Walker, who commanded the federal troops that took over Little Rock, is on the opposite side of the fence here.

Walker whipped up the students and others on the campus of the University of Mississippi Sunday night, when it became known that James H. Meredith, Negro, was on the campus.

After the Little Rock riots, Walker said that he found his duty there distasteful.

However, at the time, he was the crisp and professional soldier who gave no sign of his feelings. He set up his command post at the corner of Central High School—the object of the riots.

The contrast is most marked by the size of the operations here. In Little Rock, it was largely quiet if you were three or four blocks from the school. In Oxford, there is little quiet anywhere. On the contrary, there is a brooding sense of disaster.

Looks like the U.S.'s battles are being won on the playin' fields of Mississippi.

The federal Socrads certainly make a Loyal Opposition.

Amalgamation'll be one o' those things that when y' git 'em y' wonder why y' waited so long.

BIG NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

LONDON (UPI)—News papers in Europe and Asia gave big headlines to the Mississippi crisis today and called it one of the gravest conflicts in American history since the Civil War.

From London to Moscow and from Tokyo to Singapore and beyond, the dramatic developments at the University of Mississippi were front page news edition after edition. In most places they pushed local news from the limelight.

The Times of London said the Oxford, Miss., showdown proved a "much graver test" than the Little Rock desegregation battle in 1957.

BATTLEFIELD

Campus A Mess

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—By dawn's early light the University of Mississippi campus lay in shambles.

At least 15 automobiles lay smashed or smoldering from flames that consumed them in last night's riot.

The campus was strewn with broken glass, soft drink bottles, sticks and small buildings that were used by the rioters.

Some windows in the Lyceum Building, which is the main administration building on the campus, were smashed.

POUNDED TO BITS

One station wagon that was burned could hardly be recognized as a vehicle. Other cars had been literally pounded to pieces.

As day broke on the campus the place resembled a battlefield being mopped up by troops.

Army units were marching in battalion strength to the cadence of hup-two-three-four from commanding officers. Other soldiers were looting on the grass in a rest area.

A force of about 100 soldiers formed at daybreak near the main campus entrance but made no effort to march downtown to clean out marauding demonstrators who were milling through the courthouse square area.

LIGHTS BROKEN

In the final stages of last night's demonstration rioters tried to smash everything in sight and managed to plunge most of the campus into darkness by breaking out street lights.

Sheriff Sandy Robinson of Tulare County said Milton Taylor Vest, 36, rattled off methods, dates and places of the deaths of transients in California, Arizona and Texas.

"He's not a crank," Sgt. Gene Rutledge commented. "He knows too much."

Vest, who stands five feet, seven inches, told detectives he stabbed most of his victims but also pushed them off freight trains, set them afire or bludgeoned them.

A bulldozer that was commandeered by the mob at one point was parked in front of the Lyceum Building where it had stalled.

A fire truck which students mapped in a tug-of-war with federal marshals who finally captured it also parked in front of the Lyceum. Its hoses were gone, its lights and windshield smashed.

Outside the Lyceum Building a force of battered but sturdy United States marshals still held their firm thin line.

Newsman Shot; 150 Arrested

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith, a Negro, enrolled in the University of Mississippi today under the bayoneted rifles of the federal government. Minutes later renewed violence began in downtown Oxford.

Mississippi national guard troops—under federal control by presidential order—fired over the heads of an angry mob in downtown Oxford in a pitched battle.

The Tupelo, Miss., guardsmen drove away a mob from which the sound of firing sounded minutes before, using the threat of bayonets.

The new outbreak of disorder came after a lull in night-long rioting in which two persons—a foreign correspondent and an Oxford resident—were killed.

Federal forces—beefed up to 4,000 men—took over the Courthouse Square of this seething town of 5,283. With bayonets at the ready, they blasted groups of angry youths into rout with tear gas.

Business ground to a virtual halt in the heart of town. Doors to many shops were locked.

Arrests jumped to 150. Officers of the riot-trained military police said many of those taken into custody lived up to 500 miles away.

Roving groups of incensed southerners vented their passions in bitterness over the registration of the 29-year-old Meredith—the first Negro knowingly admitted to Ole Miss in its 114-year history.

SOLEMN CEREMONY

Meredith registered as a student in a solemn 55-minute session with Registrar Robert Ellis that began at 9:15 a.m. as angry students gathered across the street.

Meredith emerged smiling—the customary placid smile that masks any nervousness he might feel. Immediately he got lost with his U.S. marshal escort en route to his first class, returned to the scene of his registration and left soon thereafter in a caravan of army vehicles.

Tangible evidence that the passions of the night hadn't blown away came from jeering, shouting students.

The 11 hours of violence on the campus during the night officially ended at 7:15 a.m. when Brig. Gen. Charles B. Bledsoe, commander of the federal troops in Mississippi, said: "I now declare this area secure."

But, in fact, the bayonets and the gas launchers of his men cleared only the campus and 45 minutes later the first of the resurgent trouble hit the streets of Oxford, close to the guarded fringes of the school itself.

After some building of momentum, unnumbered groups of men and youths—many carrying cartons full of soft drink bottles as ammunition—formed at intersections. The bottles began to fly through windshields and hang against the side of army jeeps, and the cars of passing citizens.

In Washington, the U.S. justice department said that Meredith's entry into the campus Sunday came only after Governor Ross Barnett, leader of his state's resistance, had capitulated by telephone to Attorney General Robert Kennedy Sunday morning.

UNDER ARREST

Ex-General Accused of Inciting Mob

Times News Services
WASHINGTON—Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced the arrest today of former army major-general Edwin Walker on charges of inciting a rebellion or insurrection.

Kennedy said Walker was arrested at a military roadblock near Oxford, Miss., and would be arraigned later today.

The charges against Walker were:

Conspiracy to incite rebellion or insurrection. This carries a maximum penalty of a $20,000 fine and 20 years in prison.

Actually inciting to rebellion or insurrection. This involves a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

Conspiracy to hinder officers in the performance of their duties. This carries a maximum penalty of six years and a $5,000 fine.

Assaulting a federal officer. Maximum penalty $5,000 fine and/or three years in prison.

TROOPS BATTLE RIOTERS

said the Mississippi governor promised:

1. That he would see that U.S. marshals and Meredith would be admitted to the campus without opposition.

2. He would "guarantee to preserve law and order with state police or in co-operation with U.S. marshals" against any violence which might erupt.

At the outset of Sunday night's violence, the Mississippi highway patrol withdrew from the gas-fogged field of battle and did not return.

Col. Tom Birdsong, the patrol commander, said the patrolmen had defective gas masks.

Barnett indirectly gave up physical resistance Sunday in a public statement to his citizens.

Marshals Pinned Down by Snipers

The federal bayonets and the tear gas and the riot sticks brought an uneasy recess in the rioting, but it took nine hours during which U.S. marshals were pinned down in the Lyceum and sniper bullets peppered the red bricks of the century-old structure.

Slowly the bayonets forced the rioters back, dispersing them, finally, into the woods and the dormitories of the 640-acre campus.

Military police arrested 93 before quelling the riot during the night and added to that total after Meredith came out from his registration.

A U.S. justice department official said each could be subject to penalties totalling 20 years in jail and a $20,000 fine on charges ranging from assaulting a federal marshal to rebellion and seditious conspiracy.

Around the rim of the campus, regular army troops lined up and estimates put their strength at 1,000 men.

At the five gates of the old campus, some students strode off-campus, suitcases swinging at their sides. Other students walked aimlessly around the campus.

When Meredith walked out of the Lyceum a duly registered student a crowd gathered slowly 100 feet away in front of Conner Hall, across a campus street. Some students yelled, their words indistinct in the whirring of helicopters circling overhead.

Several students were arrested.

Edward Githman, spokesman for the U.S. justice department said:

"Marshals will escort Meredith about the campus as long as necessary. They won't leave him as long as he is in any danger."

At least 40 marshals have been berthed at Baxter Hall, the campus apartment building where Meredith was housed Sunday night.

head and once through the body. He was dead on arrival at hospital. State police said he was killed on the campus.

Two marshals and a reporter were among approximately 20 casualties, resulting from bird shot, bullets, rocks and tossed soft drink bottles. The condition of the two marshals was serious.

High-powered rifle bullets, fired from a tree grove nearby, drilled 20-odd holes through the Lyceum's front door, wounding one marshal in the thigh before he could get inside.

Now and again the sharp crack of a pistol, reported to be a .38-calibre arm stolen from the university some time ago, punctuated the sporadic sniping of the rifleman or rattled in a wild fusillade, the bullets kicking up dust in the red brick wall of the Lyceum.

Several students smashed a photographer's camera; others smashed the windows of a car. Still others turned on an army truck and sought to set it afire.

The strong contingent of marshals put on their gas masks and began firing tear gas indiscriminately, in the words of several persons who got the first whiff of it.

The ringleaders and their followers scattered.

Many soon regrouped, however, and followed retired Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker in a charge against the marshals ringing the administration building.

Firing of another kind kept up.

"They've got something that sounds like a high-powered rifle out there," one marshal said. "And somebody's emptied a pistol—pow, pow—as fast as he could pull the trigger. I could hear the bullets bounding off the building."

Neither the marshals nor the troops returned the fire.

A group described as teenagers raided the science building and made off with various chemicals.

"Molotov cocktails"—an inflammable liquid primed with a burning wick—were hurled. Three cars were burned.

Above the babble and clamor and sharp through the clouds of tear gas smoke a young voice called out: "You're treating us like niggers."

Some members of the mob used home-made zip guns triggered by strong rubber bands. Screws, bolts, nuts and rocks were the ammunition for these weapons.

4,000 Regular Troops in Oxford

An army spokesman said 4,000 regular troops now are in Oxford. The town's population is 5,283.

In a resurgence of violence, a group of men attacked army jeeps as they drove around the campus area—heaving rocks and bottles. The attacks came at 8 a.m. about 45 minutes after the army reported the campus in its control.

In Baxter Hall, officials said, Meredith will have two rooms and a kitchenette. He will live alone. His wife is a student in Jackson, the state capital, 150 miles away.

A French reporter, Paul Guillard, died amid the fog of tear gas, a bullet in his back. He was reporting for the London Daily Sketch and Agence France Presse.

A jukebox repairman of the town, George Gunter, 23, was shot twice, once through the

Students Commandeer Bulldozer

Once the students commandeered a bulldozer. They roared slowly toward the marshals but it broke down before it could reach effective range.

Again, they drove a fire truck at the federal line. The truck, too, stopped running at a crucial moment.

Bill Crider of the Memphis staff of the Associated Press was wounded in the back by a burst of birdshot. Several members of the Mississippi state patrol also were wounded.

Crider's wounds were not serious. He was treated and soon returned to the resurgent disorders that brought bayonets and bloodshed to tree-lined campus normally wrapped in quiet.

The rioting began soon after dusk. Confederate flags ro-

Sticks, Pop Bottles Hurled

The students, and outsiders in their ranks, hurled bricks and pop bottles at the marshals, who laid down a heavy tear gas barrage. The charge faltered and failed.

"If you can't win, go home," Walker told the group. "Don't stay at the university, but let's not quit; we can win."

The tear gas fumes and smoke eddied about the campus. Students and outsiders alike clasped hands or handed kerchiefs to smothering eyes and noses.

Shots rang out. There was the surge and flow of those uncertain words used to turn ugly words were used.

Barnett Loses Round

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett planned to send his lawyers to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today, perhaps to seek removal of the stern penalties for contempt ordered against him.

Barnett must purge himself of contempt by 11 a.m. Tuesday or be jailed and fined $10,000 daily. This was the penalty set by eight appeals judges for blocking enrolment of James H. Meredith, a Negro, in the University of Mississippi.

Part of the purge may have come Sunday night when Barnett, in an emotional message to Mississippi citizens, indirectly said he was giving up physical resistance to federal court edicts.

but time just went by.

"I often thought of my wife and our little daughter in Victoria. But there was nothing I could do. I couldn't even light a fire at night."

UNWORRIED

Castlegar airport manager Barry Ehman said the pilot didn't seem worried about weather when he took off alone after landing a flight engineer whom he had flown in to check on a damaged Canso flying boat.

"He just said, 'There's a lot of low stuff,'" Mr. Ehman reported. "He shrugged his shoulders and told me, 'We'll see what happens, anyway.'"

What had happened became the concern of the Search and Rescue sleuths when Johnston failed to make good on the three-and-a-half-hour flight plan he had filed to Victoria, a safeguard required by Canadian department of transport.

An RCAF search was mounted, but the same dirty weather that may have dropped Johnston into the Hope-Cheam cauldron kept the Otter and two Albatrosses grounded until Friday morning. Four more RCAF ships worked the area Saturday and Sunday, with a number of civilian volunteers in light aircraft.

Flown to Vancouver after word of the rescue came through, she was still shaken, though happy.

KENNEDY:

KENNEDY... addressing nation

'BRING SHAME'

Campus Editor In Appeal

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The editor of the University of Mississippi student newspaper told her fellow students today they are bringing "dishonor and shame" to their university and state by participating in riots.

An appeal was made in a regular edition of the Mississippiian, which journalism students put out today as usual.

Many of the newsmen covering the riot used the journalism building as a command post. It is near the edge of the campus.

Sidna Brower, editor of the Mississippiian, wrote this editorial:

"This is an appeal to the entire student body and to anyone concerned with the present situation. Not only do the students chance forfeiting their education by participating in riots, but they are bringing dishonor and shame to the university and to the state of Mississippi.

"When students hurl rocks, bottles and eggs, the federal marshals are forced to resort to tear gas to back off the crowds.

"When outsiders show their objections in the form of violence, they are seriously injuring the students in their attempt to continue their education. As a student I beg you to return to your homes.

CAUGHT IN MIDDLE

"This is a battle between the state of Mississippi and the United States government. The university is caught in the middle. The civil war was fought 100 years ago over almost the same issues and the United States of America prevailed. The federal government is once again showing its strength and power to uphold the laws of our country.

"No matter what your convictions you should follow the advice of Gov. Ross Barnett by not taking any action for violence. Blood has already been shed and will continue to flow unless people realize the seriousness of the situation.

"Whatever your beliefs you are a citizen of the United States of America and of the state of Mississippi and should preserve peace and harmony of both governments."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declares it was his inescapable duty to call out troops when Mississippi defied court orders to enrol a Negro at the state university.

The president said Sunday night in a radio-television address that he hoped it would be unnecessary to use troops, even though conciliation and persuasion had failed to obtain the admission of Negro James H. Meredith.

After his address, Kennedy sat beside the telephone in his office getting up-to-the-minute reports on rioting, gun fire and tear gas sweeping across the university campus at Oxford—and the arrival on the scene of the federal military reinforcements.

Attorney-General Robert Kennedy and several members of the White House staff kept the vigil with him.

Courts of law, all the way up to the Supreme Court, Kennedy said in his speech, ordered Meredith's admission into the university. When the orders were defied and those who tried to carry them out were threatened with arrest and violence, the U.S. Court of Appeals "made clear the fact that the enforcement of its order had become an obligation of the United States government."

TRIED ALL METHODS

"Even though this government had not originally been a party to the case, my responsibility as president was therefore inescapable. I accept it....

"I deeply regret the fact that any action by the executive branch was necessary in this case, but all other avenues and alternatives, including persuasion and conciliation, had been tried and exhausted."

A peaceful and sensible solution would have been possible without federal intervention, Kennedy said, had Mississippi's police powers been used to support court orders instead of "deliberately and unlawfully blocking them" and had the university quietly admitted Meredith.

The president had put off his address for 2½ hours. In the interval, U.S. marshals had installed Meredith on the Ole Miss campus and the governor, Ross Barnett, had acknowledged "we are physically overpowered."

Barnett, who has been cited for contempt for spurning court orders to permit Meredith's enrolment, still protested hotly that the federal government was destroying the constitution and trampling on state sovereignty.

Kennedy avoided any dressing down on Barnett by name. He closed his talk with an appeal of his own to the students, to uphold the law and accede with honor to the admission of a Negro in their midst.

Meredith Keeps Calm Dignity During Crisis

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—In the midst of it all, James Howard Meredith, 29, Negro, remains the calmest one of all—at least outwardly.

Appearing perfectly at ease, he's quick with a smile for any well-wisher and gives a friendly wave to people he knows in the courtroom.

Standing five feet, seven inches and weighing 137 pounds, he seems at first glance to be an unlikely figure to go against more than a century of segregation tradition at the University of Mississippi.

He tried three times in 10 days to enroll at the university and turned back another time because U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy feared violence if Meredith and federal marshals ran up against a citizens' army massed on the campus. Federal marshals finally established him on the campus Sunday night and a pitched battle followed.

But the strain, undeniable as it is, doesn't show.

In the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals here Sept. 28, where Governor Ross Barnett was held in contempt of court for barring the Negro from the university in defiance of federal court orders, Meredith watched films of Barnett turning him down.

Barnett was seen there, talking. Meredith was there, listening. The crowd was outside, 1,500 strong, shouting and jeering.

12 HINDUS ENROLLED AT OLE MISS

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Twelve dark-skinned Hindu students from Bombay, India, said Sunday they have received a friendly reception so far in attending the race-conscious University of Mississippi.

The 12 are living in a fraternity house on the campus where state officials have turned away Negro James H. Meredith's attempts to register.

None of the 12 would comment on the Meredith situation. "They said they did not feel sufficiently informed to venture an opinion."

SON of Gov. Barnett of Mississippi, 1st Lt. Ross Barnett, Jr., is one of 10,000 National Guardsmen put on active duty by President Kennedy's order in the desegregation crisis.

Basis of Judgment

THE LONG-STANDING COLUMBIA power controversy, a matter of major importance to British Columbia and to Canada as a whole, is on the verge of being settled through political rather than economic considerations.

Many Canadians will see the chain of influence, if not of command, stretching from Mr. Bennett, who wants to export hydro power; to Mr. Caouette, who was backed by Mr. Bennett as a Social Credit winner and who holds the power to vote the Conservative government out of office; to Mr. Diefenbaker, who wants to remain in office.

Whether or not the explanation is as simple as this, the fact remains that Mr. Diefenbaker has reversed Canadian federal policy of some 40 years to come out for the export of hydro power. And this despite the fact that power export was firmly opposed by former Conservative prime ministers, Mr. Meighen and Mr. R. B. Bennett, and by Mr. Diefenbaker's most important cabinet ministers. The latter, particularly Mr. Greene, have been left high and dry by this reversal of policy.

In view of Ottawa statements over the past several years, Mr. Bennett may well claim—although he has so far refrained—to have defeated the federal government on this important principle.

Export of power means that a capital resource will be sent out of Canada to turn factory wheels in the United States. Even if such exports can be recaptured by this country when they are needed in the future, they are in the meantime providing competition for Canadian industry, creating jobs and goods which might have been created here. The record of regaining power exports is such that we had better operate on the principle that blocks of power sent abroad are gone for ever.

There is, of course, the proposal of power grids. But there is no more assurance that power being used in the United States on a grid will be relinquished when needed by Canada than in any other form of sale.

Mr. Bennett has predicted the eventual emergence of a great power grid extending along the Pacific slope from Alaska to California, utilizing all the hydro potentials of British Columbia and the neighboring states. There are experts who question the feasibility of this concept.

Similarly, Mr. Diefenbaker's "vision" of a vast power grid extending across Canada from Pacific to Atlantic still has serious technical problems to overcome which may take many years.

With all Canada's rivers included in the Conservative program of power sales, hydro power could become one of Canada's major exports. We could then buy back the goods such power produced. This seems to be an obvious case of exporting the seed grain, and Canada may long regret the vital economic policies which are now being shaped in the feverish heat of political manipulation and party jockeying.

Proposed returns from power exports have been hailed in Ottawa as sources of United States funds to help balance our international payments and relieve the dollar crisis. But these returns will not be available for some years yet when power starts flowing, and in the meantime Mr. Bennett proposes to borrow hundreds of millions in the U.S. to finance the Peace River scheme. Such an influx of American funds will add inevitably to the situation which the federal government is now striving to relieve.

But the net effect as far as B.C. consumers are concerned appears to be that the United States will get the extremely cheap downstream power of the Columbia in return for which we will get money to produce more expensive power on the Columbia for our own use. Prior to this we will get still more expensive Peace River power which later will be sold to the United States.

Obviously, everything depends on whether United States interests will pay the price Mr. Bennett must get to handle all this, and whether they will lend the money. So far, treaty or no treaty, he has produced no signed power contracts.

The President and the Addict

BOTH PRESIDENT KENNEDY and his brother, the attorney-general, have recognized deficiencies in the present handling of narcotic addiction in the United States.

The President, in the course of a White House conference on the problem, has made a particular plea for better rehabilitation programs to re-establish people apparently cured of physical dependence on drugs. The attorney-general says Congress will be asked next year to overhaul American laws on the control of narcotics.

Here is an obvious admission that present narcotic addiction programs in the United States are not producing the desired or desirable results. The same can be said for Canada.

The main purpose of the White House conference last Wednesday and Thursday was exploratory. Authorities recognized the existence of many misconceptions related to narcotic addiction and the need to investigate new methods of treating the addict.

One of the significant points made during the discussions concerned the relationship of addiction to crime. Law enforcement authorities pointed out that while there is a direct connection between the two, crimes involving addicts are not committed because of the influence of drugs, but rather to obtain the money to purchase narcotics. In other words, the drug does not convert the taker into a different personality immediately it is administered, turning a more or less harmless individual into a dangerous criminal in some chemical transformation. But the compulsion to acquire the drug does send him out to get enough money to obtain supplies—and the method of getting the money is often through vice and crime.

There is, of course, another side to the crime-and-narcotics problem. Experienced police officials point out that many are criminals before they become addicts—that taking drugs follows and does not necessarily precede a career in crime. This is the case, it is pointed out, when people entering the underworld associate with and are influenced by criminals who are addicts.

No one familiar with the problem will expect the White House conference, or legislative changes in the control laws next year, to eliminate the drug evil overnight. The problem is too complex for immediate solution.

But the conference and its decisions do mark progress, if for no other reason than that they reveal the ineffectiveness of present methods and a determination to find some better way of handling the situation.

General Graham advises three things. He says Canadian businessmen must put forth greater salesmanship efforts, they must reduce their costs, and they must utilize increased technological improvements.

This advice, of course, is good not only in time of emergency. It is good at any time, and is a vital factor in much of the success that has attended the producers of Europe in their flourishing trade organization.

boaters and skiers use of some of the water without interfering with the enjoyment of the lake by others who do not participate in such activity, the compromise will be highly commendable. It could set the pattern for other lakes where the traffic of speedboats and skiers is protested as a nuisance and a menace.

Such compromises have been reached in other parts of the continent.

Compromise on Lakes

SAANICH AUTHORITIES appear to be pondering a move which might set a precedent for speedboats and water-skiers on highly popular lakes in this vicinity. The suggestion has been advanced that such craft and such sport be permitted in the middle of Prospect Lake where noisy and fast boats and their tows have aroused the ire of year-round and summer residents.

If an arrangement can be worked out which gives the speed-

ANY TWO CAN PLAY

Complaintsmanship—and No Holds Barred

A LONDON dentist has been cleared by the General Dental Council for a new tactic he used recently. He had a six-year-old girl patient who insisted on screaming. He screamed back. He admitted his scream was "quite horrible," but it had the desired effect. The moppet in the chair shut up. Or, as the dentist puts it, she was reduced to a "non-competitive silence."

Now there is a whole new approach to the doctor-patient relationship. And to the salesman-customer, bus driver-passenger, artist-patron, and many other relationships as well.

Not necessarily the horrible scream—although that obviously may be called for in many relationships—but to repay the opposite number in kind. Scream for scream, eye for eye, tooth for tooth.

Take the case of Elmer Salles, for instance. For an hour he has been demonstrating a refrigerator to a customer. The customer finds item after item wrong with the product. Finally Elmer is driven to employ the London dentist's device. He seeks mastery through out-doing the customer at his own game.

Customer: And those shelves look pretty skimpy to me.
Elmer: I don't like your tie.
Customer: And that door doesn't shut very well.

Elmer: Your hat band is all frayed at the back.

Customer: The motor sounds loud, too—and say, what have you just been saying? My tie? My hat? What's the...

Elmer: Your shoes could do with a shine. Why don't you do something about that tear in your sleeve?

Customer: Well, I'll be... How dare you...?

Elmer: Who chooses your shirts anyway?

Customer: Why... But...

Elmer: You have a button off your coat.

Customer: T-t-t-t...

The customer now having been reduced to non-competitive silence, Elmer moves in for the kill and a quick sale.

Or take a scene in a doctor's office.

Doctor: Well, how are you?

Patient: I have a pain in my left shoulder, and my elbow hurts and my knees are stiff and I have a swelling in my jaw and...

Doctor: My head aches.

Patient: ... And when I raise my arm my thumb itches and...

Doctor: I've had a pain in my eyes all morning.

Patient: ... And my stomach hurts and there's a tight feeling around my ankles and...

Doctor: My right wrist seems to have lost all feeling.

Patient: ... And my back... Say, what did you say?

Doctor: I was saying that my ear has a slight ringing and this tooth back here... see, right here... is aching a little and my right hip has been giving me trouble lately and...

Patient: But, uh, I mean...

Doctor: I have a crick in my neck, too.

Patient: I... uh... I...

Doctor: That's fine, nice and quiet. Now, just let me listen with my stethoscope.

It's a sure-fire tactic and it's bound to spread like wildfire.

Listen in on a 5 o'clock bus.

Passenger: About time you came along, I've been waiting here for ten minutes and...

Driver: I've been driving this thing for four hours.

Passenger: If you knew how my feet hurt you'd—

Driver: Pulling on this steering wheel hour after hour...

Passenger: And carrying all these parcels while I wait...

Driver: Brake pedal, gas pedal, brake pedal, gas pedal, brake pedal—sometimes I think I'll...

Passenger: What's that? Did you...?

Driver: And then the sun glare. My eyes...

Passenger: Hmmmm. I didn't...

Driver: Traffic lights, pedestrians, trucks, minibus...

Passenger: I... I...

Driver: Now, madam, how many tickets do you want? Just speak up please.

Non-competitive silence. What a boon it's going to be!

FROM WASHINGTON

He Will Be Sowing the Dragon's Teeth

THE Governor of Mississippi, Ross Barnett, has raised again the question which was posed at Little Rock five years ago. It is whether a state may use its own police and military forces to nullify the law of the land. President Eisenhower defined the issue in 1957 when he said that "the police powers of the State of Arkansas" have been "utilized... to frustrate the order of the court."

The position taken by Gov. Faubus five years ago and by Gov. Barnett today has never, I think been advocated or justified by the national leaders of Southern opinion. For while they are opposed to desegregation, they do not espouse the Faubus-Barnett doctrine of nullification by force.

President Kennedy, like President Eisenhower before him, would be false to his own oath of office if he abetted the theory of nullification by force to go unchallenged and become a precedent.

Beneath and behind this high constitutional issue the Mississippi case is in several important ways much worse than the Little Rock case.

For one thing, at Little Rock the question was the integration of a co-educational high school. In Mississippi, the question is in fact whether there shall be token integration at the college level.

Politically Immature?

Federal election talk is again in the air. One feature of the last election was the failure of a single Independent candidate to win a seat.

No matter how able and eminent a candidate may be he must be a party member of the fortunate side.

Many lesser able men get elected on the bandwagon success of a party. To many people an election takes the place of a horse race and they just vote for the side they think may win and are quite upset if their men lose as if they had lost a bet, there being little regard to the stated party policies.

Others of us think which party is likely to benefit us individually with little thought for the general welfare. Are we politically immature or merely indifferent and can anything be done about it?

The Mississippi case raises, as the Arkansas case did not, the critical question whether in any foreseeable future there can be common higher education for the future leaders of the whites and the Negroes. In Arkansas there was already in existence at the time of the Little Rock affair considerable integration at the college level.

Gov. Barnett is threatening to use the police powers of the state of Mississippi to close the door to the beginning of an attempt to educate together—so that they may have a common cultural heritage and may come to know each other personally—the leaders of the next generation who will have to deal with the race problem.

Future Dim

If Gov. Barnett prevails, there is no future to which men can look in Mississippi for an eventual peaceable solution of the conflict. If the Governor were able to use force to prevent a gradual and peaceable solution, he would be sowing the dragon's teeth.

My own view has long been that when the Supreme Court rendered its decision against segregation in the public schools, it was a tragic mistake—by the President, the Congress, and public opinion—to dump the enforcement helter-skelter and through private law suits into the courts.

"Integration," I wrote several years ago, "is a problem in persuasion and consent which cannot be solved by injunctions and soldiers."

Fanatics—Not Crackpots

Referring to Mr. W. A. (Bill) Scott's letter in your issue of Sept. 24th, I concede to infer that "Non-conformists" are "Crack-pots" is void of reason. The word "Crack-pot" is not in the Winston Dictionary, and merely a slang word meaning crack-brained—a senseless person, which a non-conformist, definitely is not. For the truth, a historical account of the crucifixion story and the "conforming multitude" I would refer the writer to any historian of repute.

It can be said that the Inquisitors, whether Catholic or not, were working for the "Glory of God." Religious fanatics they evidently were, but not "Crack-Pots."

Victory In Sight?

By JOSEPH ALSOP, from Washington

ALTHOUGH no one seems to pay much attention any longer, American troops are in daily combat in the war in South Viet Nam. What is more, there begins to be some hope of winning this war, which seemed so hopeless at the outset. So far it is only a case of beginning to see a glimmer of light at the end of a long, dark tunnel. But even the most pessimistic officials at the state department and Pentagon now admit that the glimmer is really there. Part of this better atmosphere is due to the recent Washington visit of the able Vietnamese Secretary of Defence, Nguyen Dinh Thuan.

The points that Secretary Thuan stressed as encouraging will seem a bit bewildering to anyone who is not familiar with the kind of guerrilla warfare that is going on in Viet Nam. To begin with, the price of rice has fallen sharply; and this is the first time in 15 years that the rice price has dropped at this season.

All over Viet Nam, rice merchants have been hoarding their stocks, expecting prices to go higher because of the Communist policy of preventing rice deliveries from the countryside to the larger centres. The merchants are hastily unloading now, before the major rice harvest, because they have concluded that the Communists are losing their former power to disrupt the rice trade.

Books filled with military intelligence are less valuable than this kind of practical indicator of the course of the struggle. It is confirmed by other comparable indicators, all showing that normal commerce is beginning to be re-established. And these, in turn, are reinforced by Secretary Thuan's report on an enormous increase in volunteers for the Vietnamese army's NCO and officers' training schools.

The fact that the Vietnamese government can now pick and choose among several thousand volunteers, where candidates formerly had to be drafted, has two important meanings.

The volunteers no longer seriously fear the brutal Communist reprisals against soldiers' families, which have long been standard practice. And in the volunteers' villages of origin the people are beginning to expect the Communists to be beaten in the end.

Grass Roots

In short, there is a favorable movement at the grass roots, with which the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem is always accused of not being in touch. The reason for this favorable movement is not far to seek, either.

The Diem government, which is also accused of "not trusting" the people, has in fact been organizing the villagers in semi-fortified "strategic hamlets," and has been giving arms to the village militias—which is not a usual sign of distrust.

In the provinces where the strategic hamlet program is well-advanced, the newly-armed villagers have been killing more Communists than the regular army. In sum, when given the means to defend themselves against the Communists, the Vietnamese people are doing just that.

None of this would be possible, of course, without the American aid program which Congress is now so anxious to hamstring. The strategic hamlets scheme would not even begin to work, either, without the parallel effort of the U.S. commander in Viet Nam, Gen. Paul D. Harkins, to liberate the Vietnamese army from its old defensive positions, and to take the offensive against the Communists wherever possible.

At one of the recent Hawaii meetings of U.S. officials with responsibilities bearing on the Vietnamese war, Gen. Harkins said that job could be done "within one year after the army attains a fully offensive footing."

Maybe hopes are now running too high. The real situation in Viet Nam will be tested in October and November, when the weather will offer the Communists their best chance to stage major attacks, if they still have the capability. Furthermore, present hopes are based on the assumption that the Communist North Vietnamese will not raise the stakes in the game, by even more overt aggression against South Viet Nam.

All the same, this war is beginning to have a very faint, just barely detectable smell of the wars against Communist guerrillas in Greece and the Philippines.

In the Greek and Philippine cases, a great many virtuous, woolly-minded persons kept loudly insisting, until the very moment of final victory, that victory was utterly impossible. The loudest voices now discussing South Viet Nam belong to persons of this sort, and some, indeed, belong to the very same persons. (c) 1962 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Adult Seizures

A while ago, a previously very healthy man came in to tell me that at the age of 60, for the first time in his life he had blacked out, and had fallen to the floor in a convulsion. He had not had another such spell, and he did not feel at all ill.

With such a story, together with the facts that he had a good ancestry, and had always been a pleasant, easy-going man, I could not believe he had had epilepsy; and, as I expected, his electroencephalogram was perfectly normal.

I thought of a beginning brain tumor, but in the absence of any mental symptoms or changes in personality, this diagnosis did not seem probable. I sent him to a neurologist to see what could be found with a complex examination, but the neurologist could not make a diagnosis. Eventually we were left with the hunch that perhaps the man had had a small stroke.

Last December, Dr. David J. LaFla discussed this problem of seizures which appear for the first time in persons past 20 years of age. As he said, the physician must think of the development in the brain of some serious disease, such as a brain tumor or an aneurysm (a blow-out in an artery). Dr. LaFla told of a woman of 43 who had been having convulsions for five years. Studies revealed a tumor beginning in the inner lining of her skull, and pressing on her brain. She was quickly cured with an operation.

In many cases of a late seizure, the patient complains of pain in his head, some loss of hearing, spells of vomiting, changes in personality, a drunken type of walk, a tremor, or an inability always to hold in his urine or bowel movements—symptoms all suggesting an injury to the brain.

An examination of the backgrounds of the eyes and the fields of vision may then show changes characteristic of brain tumor. The doctor must listen to the skull to see if he can hear a whirring sound such as would indicate the presence of an aneurysm. This can often be located with a special X-ray technique, and then a surgeon may be able to remove it.

There are dozens of tests that the neurologist will make as he searches for signs of injury to some part of the brain. He will be much impressed if, like many persons with a brain tumor, the man answers questions with "wise-cracks" and silly statements. If, with all the several neurologic tests, nothing definite is found, the skull may have to be X-rayed after the injection of air into the ventricles (normal cavities in the brain). A tumor will often push one of these cavities to one side or the other.

In many cases, the physician will have difficulty in convincing the patient that all of these tests are needed in the making of a diagnosis, and that often it is better to find and remove a brain tumor before it gets big and destructive.

Many anxious mothers write to ask about nephrosis, and what can be done for the child who has it. In a fine article recently, Dr. C. W. Daeschner, M. E. Haggard and A. A. Goldman of Galveston said that when nephrosis starts in a child, usually a remarkably large amount of albumin appears in the urine, and with this there appears a marked "droopy" which causes the child to be bloated and swollen all over.

The marked loss of protein from the blood plasma (liquid part) upsets a certain balance, and this permits an abnormal amount of fluid to leave the blood and to go out into the tissues (causing the droopy). For reasons unknown, much fat goes into the blood. In adults a nephrosis can be due to back-pressure in the big vein that carries blood into the right side of the heart.

In treating the disease, the drugs most often used are the cortisone-like ones. If used early, these drugs may give great relief. The treatment should be continued until all the albumin is out of the urine. The physician may do well then to keep giving a small dose of steroids for six months or a year, to prevent a recurrence.

Many years ago, we physicians used to deny proteins to patients with nephrosis and then my old friend, the late Dr. Thomas Addis, of Stanford, showed that the children with the disease lose each day so large an amount of protein in their urine that they must constantly be given a generous replacement amount in their diet—in the form of meat, poultry, fish, eggs, and milk.

GAITSKELL wins support

Stand Against ECM Taken by Labor Party

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskell has pushed Britain's Labor party off the fence into anti-Common Market territory. The move came not with a bang but with an uneasy whimper.

On the eve of the party's annual conference the national executive produced, after 10 hours of wrangling, a 5,000-word policy statement. It endorses Gaitskell's position and will almost certainly receive strong support from the 1,235 delegates to the five-day gathering here.

The policy declaration says the present terms negotiated for Britain's entry into Europe are inadequate. It adds that the party would approve entry if better terms were forthcoming but if not, Britain should stay out.

In broad terms this has been

Another UN Flag Raised

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP)—Three centuries of Dutch colonial rule in Asia ended today with the raising of the United Nations flag over West New Guinea in a prelude to Indonesian takeover of the rugged jungle territory May 1.

The UN flag was hoisted alongside the Dutch flag over the former Dutch governor's palace under an agreement providing for UN administration of the territory for the next seven months. The UN, with the backing of a 1,000-man Pakistani security force, will try to maintain order among the Papuan inhabitants until Indonesia moves in.

West New Guinea is facing a partial collapse of public services, communications and law and order.

The few remaining Dutch residents fear it is unlikely the United Nations will be able to do much about it the next few weeks.

There are reports that head-hunting tribes, brought under control only in recent years, have resumed activities.

The exclusive Hollandia Yacht Club burned mysteriously early Saturday leaving its 300 Dutch members with no place to go for recreation. Earlier last week 15 Papuans staged a knife battle in front of Hollandia's police station, leaving one dead and three seriously injured.

In Hollandia the water has been declared unsafe for drinking because of lack of filtering chemicals.

HOME GARDEN

Let's Harvest Those Glad Corms

Saturday, just at sundown, eleven Canada geese flew low over our place heading southward.

If that isn't the end of summer, what is?

At any rate, it is time to harvest the gladiolus corms, for the flowers are over and there is nothing to be gained by leaving them any longer in the ground.

Unlike many plants, the gladioli have made their new corms at the same time as the leaves and flowers were being produced, so that digging and lifting may be done at once.

The leaves and stems can be cut to about an inch above the corms, and then a digging fork used for lifting the corms complete with the increase of little corms attached.

Plastic berry baskets seem good receptacles for small quantities of corms. Each color should go into a separate container and be labelled. The tiny corms which drop through the plastic basket mesh can be gathered and burned, unless they are required for growing on to increase the stock of a new or expensive variety.

The cormels are winter hardy in the ground. That is the reason so many spring up all over the garden if they are not carefully harvested.

In storage, the tiny ones dry out. When it is desired to grow them to flowering size, the method is to sow them like peas in a little trench as soon as they are lifted and separated from the large corms. Be sure that each batch is clearly labelled with color at least, if the variety names are not known.

Some varieties of gladioli are notably prolific, especially one very fine white named Snow Princess. It produces many large corms each year and dozens of cormels which will all live if they remain in the ground over winter.

Some other colors and varieties tend to be less durable and less prolific which accounts for a predominance of white blooms in gardens which are not replenished with freshly purchased corms each year or so.

Spread the corms to dry in slatted trays or on wire screens in an airy spot protected from rain and direct sun. Dry them as rapidly as possible to prevent the start of roots between the old corm and the new. When dry, clean off old roots and store in a frost-free place for the winter.

Golf Course Vote Date Set Tonight

Saanich council tonight is expected to set a date for a referendum asking voters for permission to develop and operate a $165,000 nine-hole golf course on city-owned property at Beaver Lake.

The city has agreed to lease the 70-acre property to Saanich for a sum of $1 a year for 20 years, with a renewable option for 10 additional years. Councilors feel certain the course will pay for itself. Any profit from the operation would be used for further development of the course or for development of recreational facilities in the area.

The referendum is expected to be held towards the end of this month or early in November.

STUDY GROUP REPORTS

B.C. Lumber Cut Risky for U.S.

MONTREAL (CP)—Any action by the United States to limit softwood imports from Canada would run a serious risk of significantly impairing Canadian-American relations, an international study committee reported Saturday.

The committee said vital aspects of Canadian-American relations are involved in the current west coast lumber dispute and warned that the broader aspects of national relations have to be considered, not just the narrow views of lumber industries or regional groups.

The report was drawn up by Canadian-American committee, a group organized in 1957 by two non-profit research organizations—the National Planning Association in the United States and the Private Planning Association of Canada.

EXPORTED BY B.C.

The softwood industry in the northwest U.S. has been pressing Washington to get relief from competition from Canadian firms in British Columbia that export heavily to the U.S.

Noting that President Kennedy recently called for negotiations with Canada over the amount of softwood imported to the U.S. from Canada, the committee said any attempt to restrict such imports should be "a remedy of the last resort," especially in view of Canada's current balance-of-payments crisis.

"Should the United States adopt . . . quota arrangements against such an important and competitive component of Canada's exports as softwood lumber, a generally hostile reaction would undoubtedly arise throughout Canada . . ."

Even non-trade aspects of Canadian-American relations "could be brought under strain in such a situation."

The committee said "disillusionment" with such a U.S. policy would not be limited to Canada.

WOULD BE UNFAIR

For the U.S. to take action that would injure Canada's trading position during her current economic crisis would "run the risk of being accused of taking 'unfair' measures against its closest partner."

The committee said it is "unfortunate" that the Canadian government chose to reply so heavily on increased import surcharges to combat the economic emergency. "Such increases in duties, if long retained, will tend to impair rather than enhance the competitive position of Canadian industry . . ."

But these Canadian actions did not provide a basis for the U.S. to restrict softwood imports. Canada had obviously acted in the face of a national crisis.

The committee said solutions to the current U.S. softwood lumber problems has to come from actions that will help remove the internal disabilities under which the U.S. industry is laboring.

These included measures to make it easier for U.S. companies to cut more timber, improvements in their shipping situation and steps to encourage plant modernization.

Town Explodes in Flames After Tanker Truck Flips

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP)—A towering wall of flame swept down the main street of this small farming community Sunday night after a tanker truck loaded with 4,250 gallons of high octane aviation gasoline crashed and exploded.

In seconds the street, spattered by flaming gasoline, was ablaze. The fire rapidly spread to a service station, a theatre, a drive-in restaurant, a furniture store, a drug store, an insurance adjuster's office, a grocery store, a restaurant, a bakery, a dry cleaning and dry goods store, a shoe shop and a car dealer's premises.

All were destroyed. A 1½-block long string of buildings was reduced to charred ruins.

Twenty-three people living above the business premises, including 14 children, fled.

No one was killed. Two persons suffered minor burns.

SUFFERS SHOCK

Truck driver Charles Sams, 28, was in hospital suffering shock.

Mr. Sams said he lost air pressure to his brakes while descending a curving, three-mile long hill leading to this town of 4,000 persons 300 miles northwest of Edmonton. The truck hurtled into the main street, jackknifed and turned over three times.

Three rapid explosions followed and flaming gasoline swept down the street.

Bert Forseth, owner of the car dealer's premises, was driving on the main street when he saw the five-ton truck, careering towards him.

"It was almost on top of me before I realized it was out of control," he said. "Smoke was pouring from the wheels. His brakes must have been on fire."

"I pulled hard on the steering wheel and crashed the car into the curb to avoid the truck. I could see he was going to turn over. Then the explosion."

TOWER 400 FEET

"I heard three loud blasts and suddenly the whole street was in flames reaching about 400 feet high."

A 20-foot drainage canal was credited with saving the remainder of the four-block downtown business section from going up in flames. The canal cuts across the main street and prevented the flaming gasoline from spreading further.

Peace River's 20-man volunteer fire brigade could not cope with the blaze.

A call for help was sent to nearby communities. Volunteer brigades from 10 centres within a 100-mile radius of the town sent aid.

About two hours after the blaze started, the combined 100-man fire-fighting force brought it under control. Mopping up operations still were under way today.

Hopes to Free 1,113

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Lawyer James B. Donovan said Saturday he hopes to liberate within two weeks the 1,113 prisoners held by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro since the Bay of Pigs invasion. The Brooklyn lawyer, who dealt with Russia for the release of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, has been meeting with Castro in efforts to free the captives.

Accept Settlement

VANCOUVER (CP)—The inside wiremen of the Electrical Workers' Union Friday night accepted a settlement proposed by Deputy Labor Minister William Sands to end a strike and lockout threatening the B.C. construction industry.

Troops Skirmish On Tibet Border

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian and Chinese Communist troops fought another skirmish along the Tibetan border Friday night, with casualties reported on both sides.

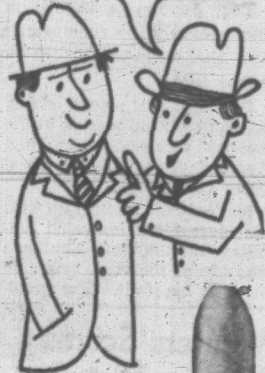

An Indian spokesman said three Indian soldiers were wounded in the latest flareup of shooting in the northeast border area. Radio Peking said four Chinese border guards were wounded.

Each nation accused the other of invading its territory.

DODGER FACES TELL THE STORY

There was no need to ask who had won as dejected Dodgers made way to dressing room Sunday at Los Angeles. They had just dropped 1-0 decision to St. Louis in final game of schedule, blowing chance to clinch berth in World Series.

Defeat forced Dodgers into playoff with San Francisco Giants today to decide which club faces New York Yankees in series. Sad Dodgers include Ken McMullen (14), Pete Richert (foreground), Willie Davis (3) and Maury Wills (30). (AP Wirephoto.)

Lions Click on Passes, Drop Esks Into Cellar

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The lower echelons are still stirring up trouble in what promises to be the closest battle in years in the Western Football Conference.
Saskatchewan Roughriders and British Columbia Lions took a turn in scrambling the standings Saturday in a race in which everybody still stands a good chance to make the playoffs.
The chief sufferers in their upsurge were Edmonton Eskimos, who went into the weekend in a third-place tie in the five-team standings and came out of it in the cellar.

The undermanned Eskimos took a 46-24 pounding from the Lions Saturday night, putting a damper on the festivities as 18,322 fans turned up to honor Ronnie Miles, the retired Edmonton halfback.
Meanwhile, the Riders pulled out a last-minute squeaker, edging Toronto Argonauts 21-17 in an interlocking fixture with the tail-enders of the Eastern Conference.
Smarting from three straight losses, Ottawa Rough Riders came bounding out of their slump Saturday, crunched through Hamilton Tiger-Cat defenses, and walloped the visitors 27-0 to ease their way to within one point of first place in the eastern conference.
Without the experienced hands of Bernie Falcone to pass, the Hamilton team seldom got within shouting distance of Ottawa's goal posts.

CAN'T REPLACE BURTON—LIONS CAN ONLY TRY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rookie Mack Burton, a stand-out pass receiver for British Columbia Lions this year, is out for the rest of the season.
Burton, halfback from San Jose College in California, suffered a torn Achilles tendon after scoring two touchdowns Saturday as Lions defeated Edmonton Eskimos 46-24 in a Western Football Conference game.
He said after the game he is not sure what happened. He was running a pattern when something popped in his ankle. He was not hit.
Coach Dave Skrien said Burton was the top rookie in Canada this year.
"You can't replace him. You can only try."

ABOUT $650 RAISED Southern First In Salmon Derby

Bert Southern's victory in the derby was like rubbing salt into the wound suffered by fellow anglers.
Southern's 11-pound, six-oz. salmon took top honors in the two-day Victoria-Saanich-Inlet Anglers' Association cerebral palsy coho derby.
Not only did he turn up with the biggest but his catch Saturday was the best. Southern was one of the very, very few to catch his limit. The small-

Wouters Scores Narrow Victory

Hank Wouters, Mike Rasmussen and Heather Wilson shared major honors Sunday in the Victoria Cycling Club's "cyclo-cross" competition at Island View Beach.
Wouters edged Ken Hay by 38 seconds in the senior men's division. Rasmussen finished exactly a minute ahead of Tom McKeech in the junior boys' fun while Miss Wilson beat out Linda Hay in the girls' race.

Hercules Passes Test of Strength

Only a Hercules, it seems, would stand much of a chance in a fight with nine other men. That's how it was Saturday as "Hercules" Cortez emerged victorious in a 10-man battle royal that featured a professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena.
In supporting bouts, Hard-balled Haggerty beat Sonny Red-Wing, Paul de Gaulle defeated Pepe Gonzales, Gene Kiniski downed Danno McDonald and George Gordienko got the nod over Vince Montana.

PLAY ARGOS TONIGHT

The second-place Calgary Stampede, who have won five games in a row and still only lead the Riders by two points, have a chance to widen the gap tonight as they take on the luckless Argos, who have won only one game in eight starts.
Rider halfback Ray Purdin completed an 80-yard pass-and-run play with quarterback Bob Patek on the last play of the game Saturday after Saskatchewan had trailed the visitors most of the way.

Earlier, a similar Patek-Purdin play had covered 60 yards to set up the first Rider touchdown by Bill Gray early in the fourth quarter, when Toronto was leading 10-1. Fullback Fred Burkert scored the other major and Reg Whitehouse added two converts and a single.
Aubrey Linne and Dick Shatto scored touchdowns for the Argonauts and Bill Mitchell booted a field goal, a convert and a single.

The Argos bottled up Saskatchewan's ground attack to a net gain of 36 yards but were unable to cope with Patek in the air. The Rider quarterback completed 16 of his 22 passes for 323 yards.
PASSES FOR SIX TDs
Veteran quarterback Joe Kapp took personal charge of B.C.'s demolition job on the Eskimos, passing for six touchdowns and going over for the seventh himself. Mack Burton and Tommy Larseid each took a pair of his touchdowns and Willie Fleming cashed in on the others. Vic Kristopaitis converted four.

Eskimos, trailing by 20 points before hitting the score-sheet, replied with touchdowns by Jim Walden, Bob Walden and Tony Kehrer, a single by Bob Walden and two converts by Ted Tully.
The Eskimos actually picked up 22 first downs to B.C.'s 20 but Kapp's passing told the story as he made good on 13 of 22 tries for 427 yards. Don Getty and Jim Walden, sharing the Edmonton quarterbacking, picked up 230 yards by completing 15 of their 30 attempts. Lions went for 145 yards on the ground to Eskimos' 113.

B.C. also looked sharp defensively, picking off three Edmonton passes and recovering a fumble.
LAS VEGAS—Jorge Fernandez, 39-0, Argentina, outpointed Charley Scott, 16-0, Philadelphia, 10.

Jack Seeshouse (10-0), A. J. Knowland (9-15), Alf Clinch (9-08), and Don Sprinkling (9-08) were other prize winners.
Paulette Howard, Walter Zozola, W. Boorman, N. Stokes, E. Lindley, Bert Acres, Frank Nuttall, Mrs. L. Larsen, A. Thompson, Dr. Hugh Clarke, Frank Jenvey, C. Forstrom, W. R. Freede, Bob Redgrave, J. D. Somerville, Tom Ferris and Bill Renfrew.

BUCKS CLICK 5-1
Rookie Rick Charron is continuing to make a great bid to earn a regular goaltending berth with Portland Buckaroos.

Charron, who starred in the last half of an exhibition game in Victoria Friday, although the Western Hockey League Buckaroos dropped a 4-1 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs, came up with another fine performance Sunday at Portland. Charron turned back 18 shots without a miss in the final period as the Buckaroos downed the Stanley Cup champions 5-1 before 6,041 fans.
It was the first time the Leafs have been beaten by a minor league club in their pre-season exhibition tour.
Defenceman Dallas Smith scored two goals to pace the Portland victory. Buckaroos were in front 2-1 after the first period and 4-1 after the second.
Toronto's Tim Horton scored one of the Portland goals when he accidentally knocked the puck into his own goal. The tally was credited to Orval Tessier. Bill Saunders and Gordie Fashway scored the other Portland goals.
Billy Harris feinted goalie Don Head out of position and scored the lone Toronto goal. Buckaroos returned to their Victoria training camp today. They meet Vancouver Canucks Wednesday and Seattle Totems at Memorial Arena Friday.
Totems gave Maple Leafs some trouble at Seattle Saturday night, mounting a strong third-period attack before bowing 7-4 to the National Hockey League champions.
Leafs had skated to a comfortable 7-1 lead in the first period before 2,973 fans.
At Calgary Saturday, New York Rangers turned on their best display of power on their exhibition tour to beat Calgary Stampede 9-0, but they lost Bronco Horvath in the process. Horvath injured his right shoulder in a skirmish with Calgary rookie Fred Churla and had to leave the game in the last period.
Rangers were also without Andy Bathgate, who limped off after taking two solid blows on his right leg.

Willie Knew 'Twas Gone; Big Blast Forces Playoff

Podres Hurls Great Game But Dodgers Clipped 1-0

By The Associated Press
"I knew it was gone," said smiling Willie Mays. "Damn it, damn it," said dejected Johnny Podres. That summed up the feelings of the players Sunday at the two focal points of major league baseball—in San Francisco, where the Giants won, and in Los Angeles, where the Dodgers lost. The combination brought about the fourth pennant playoff in National League annals.

Mays led off in the eighth inning with Houston and San Francisco tied 1-1, and slammed a one-strike pitch over the left field fence for his 47th homer and a 2-1 Giants' victory.

Podres, who had a two-hit shutout with one out in the eighth, served up a pitch to Gene Oliver, and the St. Louis catcher hit it into the lower left field stands for a homer that carried the Cardinals to a 1-0 triumph over the Dodgers.

A three-game playoff started today in San Francisco. The World Series, with the American League champion New York Yankees furnishing the opposition, starts Thursday.

BLANK THE PHILLIES
In the other "closing" NL games Sunday, John Taitouris five-hitter led Cincinnati Reds to a 4-0 victory over Philadelphia Phillies. Pittsburgh Pirates edged Milwaukee Braves 4-3 on Dick Groat's decisive double and Chicago Cubs pulled off a triple play in a 5-1 decision over New York Mets.

In the American League, Chicago White Sox belted the Yankees 8-4, Minnesota Twins blanked Baltimore Orioles 1-0 behind Camilo Pascual's three-hitter, Detroit Tigers whipped Kansas City Athletics 6-1, Cleveland Indians defeated Los Angeles Angels twice 4-3 and 6-1, and Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox split, each taking a 3-1 decision.

PODRES WAS SURE
On Saturday the Giants split with the Colts, winning 11-5 and losing 4-2, while the Cardinals blanked the Dodgers 2-0. Milwaukee downed Pittsburgh 7-3 and the Mets ended R. L. Miller's 15-game personal losing streak by edging Chicago 2-1.

"I hit it good," said Mays, of the shot that tied it up for the Giants. "I don't know it that was my biggest homer ever—or not."

Podres was sure.

LOSES BEST GAME
"This was the best game I had pitched in my life. Just one blankety blank pitch and I get beat."

Mays' homer came off Houston starter Dick Farrell, who had been touched for Ed Bailey's 17th homer in the fourth inning that sent the Giants out to a 1-0 lead. The Colts tied it in the sixth against Billy O'Dell on singles by Roman Mejias, Bob Aspromonte and Jim Pendleton.

O'Dell left for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Stu Miller received credit for the victory with no-hit relief over the final two innings.

At Los Angeles Cards' starter Curt Simmons allowed only five hits, hurling the second straight. St. Louis shutout against the Dodgers. Podres had given up only the two hits and hadn't permitted a runner past first base when Oliver connected for the clincher.

RUNNELS WINS TITLE
Mickey Mantle went 2-for-3 for the Yankees, but lost his bid to overtake Pete Runnels of Boston for the AL batting title when Runnels was forced to sit out the Red Sox games with the flu. Runnels wound up at .325 to Mantle's .321.

The White Sox got a pair of home runs from rookie Brian McCall and one by Nellie Fox as Ray Herbert posted his 20th victory. Pascual also got No. 20, pitching the Twins to their victory over the Orioles.

CRUSH CARDINALS
NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions will find out who's boss of the National Football League's Western Conference in a 24-14 pasting of St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, for a 2-0 record. Los Angeles' winless Rams (0-3), get the next chance.

Packers and Lions both have 3-0 marks in the West, and play in Green Bay Sunday. The defending champion Packers, disposed of Chicago Bears first-place dreams with a 49-0 lacing Sunday. Detroit did the same to Baltimore on a 29-20 victory. Both losers now are 2-1.

New York Giants scored a 31-27 victory over Pittsburgh Steelers. Cleveland was upset for the second straight week, this time by Philadelphia's Eagles, 35-7, the Rams lost to Dallas 27-17 and San Francisco 49ers won their first 21-7, over Minnesota Vikings.

Norm Snead's passing and Bobby Mitchell's running and receiving did the trick for the Skins.

WAKEHAM STANDS OUT FOR LOSERS
SPOKANE — The Pacific Northwest's top professional golfer defeated the area's best amateurs in the Hudson Cup matches, 9-4 1/2, but the lone Canadian distinguished himself. Bill Wakeham of Victoria figured prominently in picking up two points earned by the amateurs. Wakeham, who is due to leave Victoria Wednesday for the World Cup matches in Japan, defeated pro Al Feldman of Tacoma, 4 and 3 on Sunday. On Saturday, Wakeham teamed up with Jim Malory of Spokane to claim another point with an 8 and 6 win over Joe Greer, Yakima, and Gene Counter, Seattle.

It was the 10th victory for the pros in the 14-year history of the event.

Jinx-Beating United Wants Milligan Back

The Callister Park jinx is no more. Victoria United scored its first victory in the Vancouver park since returning to the Pacific Coast Soccer League, and the players would like to have you think they did it to impress a manager that wasn't there.

United players are hoping today that Sunday's thrilling 2-1 conquest of Columbus may help persuade Wally Milligan to return as team manager.

Meeting in the dressing room with acting manager Ed Viggers, the players voted unanimously to ask Milligan to return. Milligan gave up his post Thursday to strike home his objections over the manner in which the league handled the promotion-relegation dispute.

"It's the boys' wishes that Wally comes back," said Viggers. "I know he's as popular with the fans as he is with the players. If they had a chance, I know the fans also would vote to have him return. I'm going to have a talk with Wally today."

Certainly, United was an inspired team Sunday. Playing with only 10 men for most of the second half, the victory came at the expense of a team figured to be one of the strongest in the league.

Inside right Dave Stothard was sent off by referee Frank Lee early in the second half after a scuffle with a Columbus defender.

Hill, Stothard Cap Fine Comeback
United had to come from behind to win. Speedy Frank Sealy gave Columbus the lead with a fine effort in the first minute of the game. Sixteen minutes later Geoff Hill scored on a free kick from the edge of the penalty area to tie it. Stothard got the winning goal on a rebound eight minutes into the second half, just moments before being sent off the field.

United, 1-and-1 for the season, now will play its next six games at friendly Royal Athletic Park. Seattle Hungarians, clipped 3-1 by Firefighters in Sunday's other game, will make their official debut in Victoria next Saturday.

Jimmy Blundell scored all three goals for Firemen while Les Fabri counted Seattle's goal.

Firefighters thus share first place with Canadians, who Saturday defeated North Shore United 2-0 on goals by Normie McLeod and Bill Nicol.

While weekend action tended to detract from the promotion-relegation dispute, all is not yet love and kisses. Officials of St. Andrew's and New Westminster said Saturday they will withdraw their teams from the league. League president Bill Findler would offer no comment until he gets word of the withdrawal "in writing."

"We're not finished fighting this thing," said Jack Spry of New Westminster. "We're going to seek more advice, and then appeal to the Canadian Soccer Association."

This dispute centres over the admission of Pils into the PCSL. The league doesn't want them, but the B.C. commission has ruled Pils in.

Mud-Loving Magic One Captures Fox Memorial

By HAL MALONE
When Sandown-by-the-sea became Sandown-in-the-sea early Saturday, trainer Hugh Byrne promptly scratched Ky Look and Desert Fire and said "We'll let Mandy's Magic have this one."
Precisely at 5:39 p.m. Saturday, Mandy's Magic, certainly the grandest-looking thoroughbred in B.C. if not the fleetest, demonstrated that in the mud he's a master.
Besides Mr. Byrne, most of the 5,000 punters were well aware of Mandy's fondness for

RED CAPS MARK FIRST HUNTER SAFETY WEEK

British Columbia's first "Hunter Safety Week" got under way today with all sportsmen urged to join in the campaign to prove that all shooting accidents can be eliminated by proper handling of firearms.
Slogan for the safety week, initiated by the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs and supported by the department of recreation and conservation, is "Be a Red Cap Man."
All outdoors enthusiasts are requested to wear red caps—at work and during leisure hours—to stress that good habits can make hunting a safer sport.

Cowichan Off On Right Foot

Cowichan, including players and company, is anxious to prove that its return to first division competition in the Victoria Rugby Union will be a beneficial thing to all concerned.
The players proved they can keep pace with rivals Sunday by handing University a 6-3 defeat. The "company" (fans) proved to be equal to, or better, than the best crowd turnout in Victoria Saturday.
Derek Hyde-Lay accounted for Cowichan's points, kicking a penalty goal and, then scoring a try for the winning margin. Vikings' points came on a try by Jack Angus.
TACKLED WELL
Vikings showed excellent tackling to stay in contention throughout against a team that showed superior conditioning.
James Bry Athletic Association muscled its way into the spotlight Saturday as Union activity opened with three games in Victoria.
JBAA turned in the most impressive performance in routing Naval Tech 39-0. Oak Bay Wanderers' White team also showed power in beating Naval Command 31-9 while Wanderer Reds fell, 11-6, at the hands of Royal Roads.

Former Canadian football players had a big hand in JBAA's triumph. Ken Higgs had two tries and a convert, Tim Briggs two tries, Ian Stewart one and Jack Patrick supplied a convert.

TWO FOR ROSKELLEY
JBAA's other points came from Gord Vickery and Ken Roskelley (two tries), Ron Gower, a try and a convert, and Gordon Leidel, one try.

Penalty goals by Dick Archer and tries by Bruce Cullen, Cliff Brown and Steven Burridge got Royal Roads off on the right foot—Rob Wilson's two penalty goals accounted for Reds' points.

Oak Bay Whites, an experience studded lineup making it look easy, got tries from Bob Hutchison (2), Ed Warwick, Jim Palmer, Maurice Preece, Smith and Vandermeer. Ray Calton kicked five converts for Whites, Naval Command, a new team, was best served offensively by Gunning, with a try and a penalty goal, and J. Moore, a try.

wise, it seemed he had a point—at 116 Mega Var had to give Mandy's Magic four pounds and Pepperoni three.

Amateur handicappers who consider such matters might find themselves in agreement with Lothead's theory. Especially after noting that both Mandy's Magic and Pepperoni have run this season only in handicaps. Conversely, Mega Var has had a claiming tag on his head in eight of his last 16 starts. Once he was out for $2,250. Another time he was beaten for $2,500.

Only a week earlier Mandy's Magic finished nearly four lengths ahead of Mega Var after getting three pounds (114 to 117) from him. Ky Look, albeit a filly, was penalized only one pound (to 116) after setting a track record and winning by herself.

Lothead has the greatest respect for official handicappers whose job of trying to get all the horses finishing simultaneously is enough to drive a man up the wall. Saturday, however, he wondered if they hadn't left their abacus out in the rain.

FUSSY FILLY
Trainer Byrne said he would have "dearly liked" to have taken a crack at the Percy Fox with Ky Look and Desert Fire. "But when I saw that sea (the track) I knew I had to take the filly (Ky Look) out. She can't stand up in the stuff."

Did he withdraw Desert Fire because of the 127 pounds assigned him?

"No," said Byrne. "He's sharp now and he can pack weight. But I was afraid he would slip and slide too much. He might have been able to get his footing and he might not have. It just wasn't worth the risk."

In the mud-splattered lockers' room, a jubilant Wesley Jones said he never had any doubts that he and Mandy's Magic would have their picture taken with Miss Trudy Fox, who did the decorating honors.

"He's a little sore, you know," said Jones. Then, wiping mud out of his eye... "and this stuff suits him fine. He's a big, strong dude. Still had a lot of run left in him at the finish."

Freddie Longo said Pepperoni ran gamely—"better than I thought he would. He's kind of lazy. You have to get into him a lot with the stick. But we weren't going to catch Jonesy today."

Nobody caught Jonesy in the secondary feature either. The little fellow who doesn't get many chances to make mistakes because he doesn't get too many rides, was a "goodbye starter-hello judge" winner of the mile and three-eighths joust with Eastern Scout. The margin was eight fathoms—er—lengths.

A Little Rain Didn't Hurt Lema's Chances

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—California's Tony Lema, whose happiest break came when his first-round 75 was washed out by rain, won the fifth annual $30,000 Sahara invitational golf tournament Sunday with two fine sub-par rounds.
The 28-year-old Lema shot 66 and 68 in the final 36 holes over the par-71 Paradise Valley Country Club for a total of 270 and a three-stroke margin over his nearest challenger, Don January.
The money-winners:
Lema (270) $2,000; January (273) $1,000; Casper (278) $1,000; Hill (277) $1,000; Cupit, Stifford, Boros and Hebert (285) $500.
Bruce (280) $300; Massena, Baxter, Beyer (281) $200; Selt (281) $200; Gustin and Wharton (281) $200.
Bruno, Baird and Collins (282) $470; Rodgers, Gelberger, Maxwell, Johnston and Stewart (283) $325.

Al Proves That Goalies Pick Up Scoring Tricks

Al Davies established a reputation, over the past several years, as one of the province's most capable soccer goalkeepers.
From his position on the last line of defence, he must have learned something about offence, too.
Playing on Evco's front line Sunday, he pumped in two goals to lead his charges to a 4-2 victory over hustling Victoria West—Evco's maiden triumph in the young Victoria and District League season.
Veteran—Ced Robb, Bob Marsden and Ted Smith also stepped up at the weekend to share scoring heroics with Davies in first-division play.
Robb, with the Coast League United team last season, scored all three goals to give Gorge a 3-1 victory over Heaneys. Marsden duplicated the hat trick in Kickers' 3-1 conquest of Esquimalt.
Smith counted the game's only goal as Brodies nipped the scrappy Canadian Scottish 1-0 on Saturday.

The results kept Kickers and Gorge in a tie atop the eight-team first division.
Oak Bay maintained its one-point lead atop the second division standings by routing 8-0 Victoria University Vikings 6-1 while second-place Navy tripped Victoria Press 5-1. In other games, Eddys blanked King's 4-0, PPCLI edged Drake Kickers 4-2 and Saanich Warriors found Island Tug easy to sink, 8-0.

Alouette Begins Radiation Count

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Research Board said here Sunday that Canada's first space satellite has started to monitor radiation caused by recent high-altitude nuclear bomb tests by the United States.

A zone of charged particles created by the nuclear explosions is being monitored by special equipment mounted on the 320-pound Alouette satellite. The equipment was developed by the National Research Council's cosmic ray section.

CAPACITY CROWD

Orchestra Inspired At Gala 'Overture'

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
All things combined to provide a festive and delightful Sunday afternoon when Victoria Symphony Orchestra raised the curtain on its 22nd season.

In the golden autumn weather a capacity crowd flocked to the Royal Theatre to hear a program of overtures and preludes provided without admission charge.

The stage, bordered with flowers and foliage and emblazoned overhead with the word "Overture" in glittering letters, had a gala appearance that heightened the mood.

IN THE MOOD

On the podium Hans Gruber raised his baton for the gay, brilliant "Zampa" Overture, and it was quickly obvious that conductor and musicians were right in the mood.

In its entirety, it was a concert to enjoy by any standards. It contained vivid contrasts, but whether the orchestra was being called upon for exquisite delicacy and subtle textures—Debussy's "Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun"—or pompous splendors of patriotic fervor—Tchaikovsky's "Overture Solennelle 1812"—or the romantic nostalgia of the Act 3 Prelude to "La Traviata," it played not only competently but often inspiringly.

There is no doubt that the

A statement issued by the board said that up to noon here Sunday the satellite's signals from its monitoring equipment have been received at the telemetry station of DRB at nearby Shirley's Bay on all five passes over the city.

Good radio signals from outer space were being picked off the top side of the ionosphere—signals that cannot be detected by ground stations.

"The ionosphere is giving good radio reflections from the top side of the ionosphere with interesting fine structure effects which could not have been detected from the ground," the statement said.

Data from the NRC particle-counter experiments "now was being received and 'promises to be very valuable' in determining the effects of the artificial radiation zone created by the U.S. nuclear tests.

The Alouette satellite is studying the ionosphere from above and is orbiting the earth once every 105 minutes at an altitude of between 600 and 650 miles.

OCEAN STORMS THREATEN ORBIT FLIGHT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two major storms—tropical storm Daisy in the Atlantic and typhoon Dinah in the Pacific—posed possible threats today to Walter M. Schirra's projected six-orbit space flight, scheduled Wednesday.

Daisy was an immediate threat. Dinah was not expected to cause trouble unless the shot is delayed.

A spokesman for the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported officials are keeping a close watch on the two weather systems.

Almost perfect weather is a must in possible landing zones before the launching will be attempted.

Gold Medal for 'Jete'

More than 2,300 color slides and prints from a score of countries were entered in Victoria Camera Club's 19th annual International salon of photography and color exhibition.

Joe Hendrick of Dallas, Tex., won the society's coveted gold medal for his black and white ballet study entitled "Jete."

Entries came from Australia, Germany, Japan, China, Italy, India, Indonesia, Austria, New Zealand, Mexico and Venezuela.

Two hundred prints out of the 580 entered have been selected for exhibition at the Greater Victoria Art Gallery from Oct. 21 to Nov. 3.

Tom Haynes, 2815 Parkway Drive, Saanich, qualified for the salon exhibition with a print of a wood carving.

The entry list included 964 nature color slides and 1,336 pictorial color slides. Two local photographers who qualified for salon showing of their color transparencies are Samuel Marling and Frank Boas.

NEW LIFE GIVEN 'DEAD' HANDS

By BON SUDLOW

The pain of arthritis is agonizing. Its cure remains elusive. It continues to be one of the most mysterious of man's complaints.

Most often it attacks its victims in the productive prime of life. Statistics show 68 per cent of those disabled by arthritis are of working age, 18 to 64.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is a national voluntary organization incorporated under federal law.

In Victoria the C.A.R.S. centre is located in the Outpatients' Clinic at St. Joseph's Hospital. A wax bath was recently added to the facilities by the Douglas Rotary Club at a cost of over $700. During the past summer months, nearly 150 visits had been paid to patients and the clinic had been exceptionally busy as the 26 clinic aids had recorded a total of 504 hours of work.

Mrs. E. L. Bartlett, the new physiotherapist, when asked to comment about the facilities available and the work accomplished by the Women's Auxiliary to C.A.R.S. said, "It is generous of St. Joseph's Hospital to allow us to use their facilities. The W.A. ladies are invaluable to me in assisting the patients through their treatments. They are always cheering them on."

The work of the Women's Auxiliary does not end in the treatment rooms.

They are continually holding money-making projects to increase the facilities now available. Recently they presented an arthritis sufferer with a $50 pair of orthopedic shoes.

One of the most popular forms of therapy is ceramic classes conducted by members of the women's auxiliary helping to inject new life into "dead" hands.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is one of the 23 agencies participating in the Victoria United Appeal.

SITUATION 'SHROUDED'

Yeman Rebels Hold Firm

ADEN (AP)—Yemen's new military regime, strengthened by friendly words from the Soviet Union and United Arab Republic, announced more arrests and executions Sunday in a wave of blood letting.

Col. Abdullah Sallal, premier and head of the revolutionary council of the newly-proclaimed republic, apparently tightened his grip in the isolated Red Sea country.

Prince Saif al Islam al Hassan, claimant to the throne vacated by the assassination of his nephew, Imam Mohammed al-Badr, flew to a council of war in neighboring Saudi Arabia. He claimed in a communique that tribal warriors were marching against the revolutionary regime at the capital of San'a from three directions. But there was no way to verify these claims. What exactly was happening was shrouded behind the mystery of Yemen's closed borders.

FAMILIAR TO THOUSANDS of coast residents, the CPR's Princess Elaine is shown making her last entry into Nanaimo Harbor Sunday. She will be put up for sale. The ferry, along with the Princess of Nanaimo, was taken off the Nanaimo-Vancouver run in line with a company policy to reduce its ferry service to the mainland. The Princess of Vancouver is the only remaining ferry. (Photo by Agnes Flett).

LAST-DITCH NANAIMO PLEA FAILS

Crump Says 'No' ... Again; Two Ships Pulled Off Run

NANAIMO—Two of the Canadian Pacific ferries on the Nanaimo-Vancouver run were taken out of service as scheduled today after failure of a last-ditch attempt by the Chamber of Commerce to prevent reduction of the service.

Only one ferry, the Princess of Vancouver, is now left on the run.

At the same time, the CPR raised its fares from $2 to $2.95 one way and from $4 to $5.90 return. This was also condemned by the Chamber.

Bazaar Aids Old Folks' Residence

DUNCAN—The Old Age Pensioners' Organization here will hold a bazaar in the Eagles' Hall Friday to raise funds to establish an old folks' home.

The bazaar will be opened at 2 p.m. by Claude Green, chairman of the Cowichan Hospital committee.

Mrs. John White, secretary of the OAPO, said the organization is still trying to obtain the King's Daughters' Hospital when the new Cowichan District Hospital is built. The money will be used to furnish the building, which is to be both a nursing and boarding home.

STRONGLY SUPPORTED

Petitions circulated during the summer, Mrs. White explained, were supported by many local service clubs. She said the government would pay part of the costs for the remodeling project.

Mrs. White said the building fund has been in existence for nine years.

The organization, she said, had originally planned to build an old folks' home on Cowichan Lake Road at Skinners' Corner.

WIRE FROM CRUMP

All hope for the CPR changing its mind and continuing its three-ferry service was eliminated in a wire from Canadian Pacific president N. R. Crump. It was in reply to a wire sent through the office of Mayor Pete Maffeo.

Mr. Crump said the Princess of Vancouver will continue to provide service from downtown Nanaimo to downtown Vancouver, but the other two ferries, Princess of Nanaimo and Princess Elaine, could not continue in service.

He added that "alternative service between downtown points for foot-passengers will be available by buses operated via the B.C. government ferries."

Fisherman's Condition Termed 'Fair'

Ex-Winnipeg Hurt While Saving Vessel

SIDNEY—Condition of a fisherman injured in a marine accident at the height of last Friday's gale is fair, Rest Haven Hospital officials at Sidney reported today.

Brian Knox, formerly of Winnipeg, suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries when he was jammed between a float and his boat at Sidney Wharf. The accident occurred at about 5 a.m.

Dudley Harvey, 9888-4th Street, a member of Sidney's volunteer fire department, received a head injury while helping to bring Knox to the ambulance.

He was standing on a float which suddenly rose on the crest of a wave, knocking him against a beam at the wharf.

Fire Chief Arthur Gardner said the accident occurred when Knox, fearing that his boat would break loose from a float, tried to board the vessel.

He jumped and caught hold of the side of his boat. As he hung there a wave sent the float crashing into his back.

Two-Cent Drop In Egg Prices

Price of large eggs at producer and wholesale levels dropped two cents in Victoria today due to increase production in B.C., a poultry official said.

"To be fair, increased cost of operations may have had something to do with this, but in the case of the B.C. Ferries, Premier Bennett says they are making money," the mayor said.

OFF TEXADA ISLAND

Four Men Escape Swamped Seiner

Four Nanaimo men escaped from the seiner Sea Fury near Texada Island Saturday and paddled six miles to safety in a skiff.

The 40-foot seiner was swamped off Gillies Bay.

"The wind just about swamped us several times," said skipper Larry Grais, 27. "We had all been to sea before and there was no panic. If there had been, not all of us would have made it."

Grais, Ray McCormick, Jerry Duval and Terry Mearns were not hurt. Grais said the wind hit his seiner at an estimated 50 miles an hour, toppling it over. The men scrambled into the skiff as the bigger vessel sank stern first.

Oars for the skiff were made from a split hatch board. It took the party three and one-half hours to paddle to Texada. With a salvaged can of varnish, the men lit a fire on the beach to get warm. They walked the three miles to Gillies Bay.

The Sea Fury later was salvaged.

NS Savanah, world's first nuclear-powered merchant ship, could cruise 14 times around the earth at up to 23 knots without refueling.

Air-Sea Rescue officials said the weather in the Holberg area, 250 miles northwest of Vancouver, was marginal at the time. The cloud ceiling was 500 feet and visibility 1½ miles.

A doctor and nurse accompanied Mrs. Remillard on the flight, which took more than four hours.

How long since you counted up the savings in your Life Insurance?

You probably know the exact amount of family protection that your life insurance represents. But how about the savings in your life and endowment policies?

How much do these total right now? How much will they build up to in the next five years? In ten years? How much by the time you reach age 55, or 60, or 65?

A good many people find, when they look up their cash values, that the amount to their credit—present and prospective—is considerably higher than they expected.

In your permanent life insurance, you have an unexcelled form of savings for the future. Your money is safe—completely safe. You can provide that, even though you should be disabled, your savings will continue to build up, your premiums will be waived, and you will have an income besides. At retirement, you can arrange for paid up protection for life—or you can use all; or part, of your accumulation to provide you with an income that you can never outlive. And at every step of the way, you have guarantees of the amounts at your credit.

You can't have too much of this excellent combination of protection and savings. Are you sure you have enough for both purposes—right now?

Today is a good day to talk to a London Life representative

LATIN DEFENCE PACT AGAINST CUBA STUDIED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has decided to throw strong support behind Latin American moves for creation of a Caribbean defence organization to reinforce military protections against growing Communist power in Cuba.

Formation of a new defence pact, probably embracing 10 nations, is expected to be the central issue up for discussion in the meeting here Tuesday and Wednesday of foreign ministers of the Organization of American States. U.S. officials said all 20 countries now active in the OAS—Cuba is an outcast—will be represented.

U.S. administration authorities are reported encouraged by soundings on the Caribbean defence pact concept made in New York this week by State Secretary Rusk.

Rusk is said to have found widespread interest in new steps to deal with the continuing buildup of Soviet military might in Cuba in support of Premier Castro.

REDS CLAIM PAIR 'MANHANDLED'

U.S. Asks Expulsion Of Soviet UN Envoys

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States charged two Soviet UN diplomats Saturday with buying U.S. defence secrets from a sailor and demanded that the Soviet Union send the two home immediately.

The Soviet Union protested to the United States that federal agents had illegally arrested, manhandled and questioned the two men and it called for punishment of those responsible. The protest said one of the Russians was hurt. The two countries acted in diplomatic notes that passed between the Soviet and U.S. delegations to the United Nations.

The Russian diplomats were Evgeni M. Prokhorov, 31, a second secretary in the Soviet delegation, and Ivan Y. Vyrodov, 38, a third secretary.

ARREST SAILOR

The sailor was Yeoman First Class Cornelius Drummond, 33, a Negro from Baltimore, Md., stationed at the U.S. naval base in Newport, R.I.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said it caught Drummond Friday night passing classified navy instruction manuals to Prokhorov in a car parked outside a diner in Larchmont, N.Y., while Vyrodov was inside the diner.

The FBI said Drummond was arrested but the two Russians were taken to the New York FBI bureau only for questioning and then, because of their diplomatic immunity from arrest, were released.

A U.S. diplomatic source said the two Russians declined to reveal their identity to the FBI when apprehended and the FBI did not know they were diplomats until they arrived at its office.

When this was found out, the informant said, they were told they could leave, but they insisted on staying and arguing till the FBI managed to get another Soviet delegate to come to the office at 4 a.m.

SHELL ROOFS

U.S. Parley To Hear B.C. Engineer

A Victoria engineer is one of the main speakers at an international building conference being held at the University of California this week.

Peter M. Gelsh will deliver a paper on shell roofs which provide maximum strength with light weight. Mr. Gelsh, an engineer with the bridge office of the highways department, pioneered in the use of shell roofs.

He designed the first timber shell roofs in America for the 1946 Industrial Fair in Buenos Aires. The shell-type roof is used to cover large areas and has been used with notable success for such structures as aircraft hangars, churches, arenas and gymnasiums.

ECONOMICAL

These roofs have not received as much attention as they deserve from Canadian builders, according to Mr. Gelsh.

He said there is a widely held but erroneous opinion that shells are costly. U.S. builders have discovered that they are economical, he said.

The conference at the University of California is designed to help engineers, builders and architects to compare methods, materials and experience with shell structures.

HAVANA (UPI)—The government-controlled newspaper Revolution announced today that President Osvaldo Dorticos will go to New York this week for the United Nations General Assembly meeting now in session. There was no indication that Premier Fidel Castro would go, as he did two years ago when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was there.

Before the parade, Foreign Minister Marshal Chen Yi made a rare appearance in full army uniform to give a 20-minute keynote speech.

He made the usual attacks on "U.S. imperialism" and three times referred to Yugoslav "modern revisionists" as the main danger to the international Communist movement. He acknowledged continuing difficulties in China's economic development but said the situation was steadily improving with the nation "relying on its own efforts."

The anniversary parade was reviewed by Communist party chairman Mao Tse-tun, republic Chairman Liu Shao-chi, Premier Chou En-lai and prominent foreign guests included Mrs. Hartini Sukarno, wife of the Indonesian president.

'INVISIBLE MEN'

We've Been Watched For Years

LONDON (AP) — Delegates to the third Flying Saucer Convention went home today after being told that invisible men from other planets have been watching this world for years.

"We can't see them," said Ray Neilsen, "because they know the trick of invisibility."

Neilsen is chairman of Britain's Aetherius Society.

"The Aetherius Society comes from the Greek. Aetherius means one who comes from outer space."

The society was founded in 1954.

"Our aim is to provide a liaison between the people from outer space and our world so that when the saucer men become visible people won't go off with screaming hysterics."

During the two-day convention, many reports were made on seeing flying saucers, which the spacemen apparently have not bothered to make invisible.

One member related seeing more than a dozen in one glorious night.

EVEN THE MISSILEMEN

They're All Gunners To This Old Master

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Britain's Master Gunner, General Sir Robert Mansergh, is tall and imposing with a dignified but easy personality.

This is an important aspect of his job as liaison officer between the Queen and gunnery units throughout the Commonwealth.

"The Master Gunner is recommended by his regiment," 62-year-old General Mansergh told The Times during a weekend visit here. "He has to be a senior officer and an experienced one. His job is largely concerned with welfare and goodwill—that is, why I cannot discuss national or international politics."

Such was his reaction to a question about the future of South Africa—the land of his birth. He added that, if he had not been requested by the Queen to visit artillery units in Canada, he might have accepted another invitation to go to South Africa.

"The ramifications of my job are broad," he said, "and it is interesting that the net of royal regiments at home and overseas has survived political differences."

REPORT TO QUEEN

General Mansergh said he will report back to the Queen after completing his coast-to-coast Canadian tour.

Asked what effect the weapons of the future will have on army gunners, he replied:

"We will still have gunners. In the firing of rockets and other missiles there are many duties for gunners. I have been visiting units which are using rocket missiles, and I still regard them as gunners."

On a first visit to Canada, General Mansergh inspected all units of the Fifth (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, in the Bay Street Armory Saturday afternoon.

And he delivered a Royal message:

"Our Captain General who is, of course, Her Majesty the Queen, instructed me before I left to inform you she takes a very great interest in you."

"She further instructed me to give you her good wishes and said how pleased she was with the close tie between the gunners of Britain and the gunners of Canada."

CHEERS, SALUTE

Three cheers for the master gunner were led by Capt. A. E. Sherman, second in command of the Fifth Independent Medium Battery. General Mansergh responded with a smart salute.

He was received by Major G. Q. Archer, commanding officer, and Mrs. Archer, and J. B. Clearhise, who joined the famous Fifth in 1914 and was second in command when he retired as major in 1933.

After the inspection General Mansergh attended receptions in the men's mess, the sergeant's mess and the officers' mess, and complimented the men on the spare-time effort they put into their training.

TO THE MOON

"Your wives, mothers and sweethearts contribute, too," he told them. "They contribute through every man who turns out on the parade ground."

His message for the future was: "Look ahead . . . go to the moon if you like, but take the tradition of the Royal Regiment along with you."

POLICE 'IN WOODS' WITH TOYS

A story that bears were on the loose in the bush near West Saanich Road was brought home by two brothers to their parents Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gee, 5041 Prospect Lake, were confronted by wide-eyed Barry, 11, and David, nine, about 3 p.m.

They had been playing with their pal Douglas Anstey, 10, of 4917 Prospect Lake, when they saw two huge animals glaring at them through the undergrowth. They quit the bush hurriedly.

Saanich police, ready for the worst, proceeded to the area with caution. The bears, however, were stuffed, all four feet of them. So were two large yellow and white dogs, five black and white spotted dogs and a blue poodle which was found with them.

Police are still trying to find out where they came from—lost from the Kinsmen Fair perhaps?

DWARFED by stuffed toys they found in bushes off West Saanich Road near Dominion Astrophysical Observatory are three Prospect Lake School boys,

TWO AND HALF HOURS IN WATER

Brothers Just Miss Death In Renfrew Boating Mishap

By IAIN HUNTER

Two brothers narrowly escaped drowning Saturday afternoon when their small boat overturned in Port Renfrew harbor.

Hugh and John McKee, both fathers of three, were in the water over two-and-a-half hours before making it to shore.

THROWN OUT

The two were out fishing when a large wave broke over the boat about 11:30 a.m. and throwing them into the water.

The brothers, in heavy clothing, clung to the overturned boat and, when no help came, started paddling and kicking it before them toward the nearest shore. This took over two-and-a-half hours.

They had to ride large breakers to get to shore. However, John McKee, at this point became separated from the boat.

"We were just changing sides," his brother Hugh told the Times, "when John shouted 'Look out, here comes a big one.' I felt a rope hanging down and wrapped it around my wrist just in time."

John missed the boat and drifted away.

Both he and his brother, who was swimming along about 60 or 70 yards behind, were battered by the waves on the rocks.

EXHAUSTED

"We were pretty exhausted by the time we finally made dry land," Hugh McKee said. By this time it was after 2 p.m.

No one was there to help them when they landed, and they had to walk through brush out to the road about 400 to 500 yards.

Mr. McKee said they were both capable swimmers. "I can thank my father for that," he said.

Mr. Bridges presented a general review of union business in his talk to the Victoria local, at a meeting in the Victoria Labor Hall.

ARMY'S TRAINING PAYS OFF FOR SOLDIER LOST IN WOODS

An army private walked out of thick bush in the Shawnigan area late this morning after spending Sunday night in the open.

Pte. S. G. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith, 741 Lampson, described his ordeal in the Eagle Heights area as just like a typical army "manoeuvre."

He said he became "twisted around" while out hunting Sunday, and failed to meet his companion Henry Cameron, 2975 Orillia, at 2 p.m. as planned.

Pte. Smith made a shelter for himself as he had learned in the army, and spent the night in the bush.

Injured Workers 'Bullied'

Labor Man Levels Charge At Compensation Hearing

A charge that the Workmen's Compensation Board bullies injured workers was heard today before a provincial royal commission in Vancouver.

Labor and management took definite, opposing stands as the commission, under Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, began hearings into WCB operations.

A British Columbia Federation of Labor brief asked that the board release figures on injury claim rejections.

"This pertinent information is not published in the board's annual report," said E. P. O'Neal, federation secretary-treasurer.

"This information, we believe, will prove our contention that since 1955 there has been a severity of administration which has resulted in proportionately fewer workmen receiving compensation."

Letters from the WCB to claimants in which claims were rejected did "not even specify whether the rejection was based on medical or legal grounds" in most cases.

"Complaints are often heard of the treatment afforded workmen who appear for review of their rejected claims," Mr. O'Neal said.

"No transcripts, written reasons, witnesses or counsel are allowed."

"Workmen complain of abuse in the form of unnecessarily harsh questioning and of being made to feel guilty and confused. In short, it is alleged that the workman is bullied."

Industry Claims Double Payment

The B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in its brief, protested that industry in the west coast provinces pays twice for hospital care of injured workmen.

Robert B. McDonnell, provincial chairman, said in his brief that in 1961, WCB payments to hospitals totalled $1,847,258. These funds were provided solely by employers to the board, he said.

However, since 1954, industry has paid 5 per cent provincial sales tax on all capital and maintenance costs and on most raw material costs. Two per cent of this, he said, was earmarked in 1954 to provide hospital care for all citizens.

"We estimate about 40 per cent of the sales tax is collected from employers," he said.

"We submit that these multiple hospital charges are unfair and that employers should not be required to pay the hospital costs of workers from the workmen's compensation fund as these hospital costs are amply provided for through taxation to which employers contribute in a very substantial way."

Record Pace Maintained In Building

Greater Victoria's year-long building boom maintained its record pace last month, Victoria and Saanich building permit figures showed today.

By the end of September, Victoria issued more than $10,000,000 worth of permits; double the total issued in the full 12 months of 1961.

Saanich totals pushed past the $9,000,000 mark—almost 30 per cent ahead of last year—and showed strong promise of setting an all-time record by the end of the year.

$1.1 MILLION

Here's what the two building departments reported after tabulating September permits:

Victoria issued 566 permits during the month valued at $1,422,547 compared with 565 permits estimated at $421,798 a year ago.

This brought the total for the first nine months of the year to $13,170,558.

In the corresponding period of 1961, the city issued a total of 4,619 permits with an estimated value of $3,271,917.

Saanich building department issued 102 permits worth $662,335, last month, including 32 dwellings valued at $406,600.

It issued 95 permits worth $436,270 in September, 1961, including 26 dwellings valued at $335,800.

919 PERMITS

Total to date this year is 919 permits worth an estimated $9,043,521 compared with 854 permits valued at $6,819,653 during the corresponding period last year.

House construction provided the impetus for Saanich's boom, accounting for 359 permits valued at $5,206,151 so far this year compared with 303 permits worth $3,973,450 in 1961.

MONTE ROBERTS

There was a real gem of a classified ad in the paper the other day—an ad which I have been rereading from time to time, just to revive my faith in the basic humility of human beings.

Here's the ad, from the rental section:

HIGH ROCKLAND
Spacious fully eqppd, ground floor, garage, sea glimpse, Vacant Nov. 1.

Isn't that delightful?
Sea glimpse!

Not "magnificent marine vista" or breath-taking ocean view" or "window to the great outdoors."

Just a modest, deprecatory, take-it-or-leave-it sea glimpse.

I suppose it is too much to hope that this little ad will set a trend... but if it did, couldn't you imagine ads such as these:

FOR RENT: House with rooms in it. Air-conditioning or you can replace broken windows at your own expense. A few modern conveniences, including indoor plumbing. Within easy walking distance of downtown, if you call three miles uphill easy.

NEW CARS: See the new, new, new 1963. Putt-Putts now at Magna Motors. All new. Each car equipped with four wheels. Tires on most of them. Practically as good as the 1962 models and not much more expensive.

USED CARS: Honest John has a bunch of used cars he'd like to deal off as soon as possible because he had a bad week at Sandown. All of Honest John's used cars are one-owner cars—one owner at a time, that is—and were driven exclusively by Little Old Ladies, some of whom remembered to have oil put in the crank case occasionally.

ROOF REPAIRS: Does your roof leak? We guarantee our work. If your roof still leaks after we repair it, we will loan you a bucket.

HAIR STYLING: Want to look beautiful? Leave it to us. We will style your hair and give it a permanent wave which will be permanent for 24 hours or even two days if you're lucky.

I guess it is much too much to hope; but, if the example set by the little ad offering "sea glimpse" were followed wouldn't it be slightly terrific?

TOPICS OF THE DAY

James Audain, 333 King George Terrace, was elected president of the Oak Bay Social Credit Association at a recent meeting of the group held in the Oak Bay Municipal Hall.

Vice-presidents elected were: K. Murphy (first), Mrs. C. D. Bury (second), G. Petch (third), A. E. Bigelow (fourth), H. P. Brown (fifth), Maj. W. Cummings (sixth).

The Vancouver Island Branch of the Purchasing Agents' Association of British Columbia will hold its October dinner meeting Wednesday, 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Saanich police Sunday night captured two youths red-handed who had broken into Mattie's Farm, Cordova Bay Road, and admitted being responsible for a rash of break-ins at the farm through the summer. Two police constables were posted on the premises as a "stake out" when the two 22-year-old youths broke in a door at 1 a.m. and began rifling vending machines.

Upon being apprehended they admitted similar break-ins to the premises during the summer.

Wanted—a young good-looking man to play the part of a master forger and a young attractive girl to play a champion safecracker. Those eligible may attend a rehearsal in St. Matthias' Hall Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for a performance of the play, "The White Sheep of the Family," by St. Matthias' Dramatic Society.

The play will be staged during the week of Dec. 3 for five nights.

The Optimist Club of Victoria will continue its boys work by conducting choral and oratorical classes commencing this week.

Oratorical classes start Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at the Superior Street Hall. Additional registrations for this class under the direction of R. Baird will be accepted Thursday at the same hall.

The Optimist's Boys Choir will resume practices 7:30 p.m. Thursday under the leadership of C. F. Boulter. Parents can phone 384-1931 to register their sons, or they can be registered at the practice.

MYSTERY ENGINE

picked up between Albert Head and William Head by the trawler Elwin S. has the RCAF puzzled. No one knows how the aircraft engine was sunk in 45 fathoms but there is speculation it may be from a crashed plane. Here, from left, Jack Lumatta, Mike Martin, Ochs Ludwig and Johnny Veness examine the salt-eroded engine at Fisherman's Float where it was landed. (Times photo).

Eroded Motor May Solve Plane Mystery

A badly-eroded aircraft engine, dragged up from 45 fathoms of water between Albert Head and William Head on Friday, may be the clue that will solve the mystery of a missing aircraft.

Fishermen say they have been snagging their nets for years near the spot where the engine was picked up by the deep-sea dragger Elwin S. There is speculation the engine is just one part of a plane sunk in the vicinity.

The RCAF has identified it as a nine-cylinder radial engine. The three blades of the propeller are missing.

UNSURE

One of the difficulties in identifying the engine and where it came from is that no one is sure if an aircraft ever crashed in the area.

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Vancouver is checking for any record of a plane missing in this vicinity.

TCA has been notified of the find by the RCAF. There is a slim chance the engine may provide the clue to the mysterious disappearance of a TCA Lodestar aircraft 15 years ago.

NO TRACE

The plane, with 15 persons aboard, passed over Sea Island Airport and then disappeared. No trace of it has ever been found.

The engine is now at Erie Street Fishermen's Float where it was inspected by RCAF personnel this morning.

The Elwin S., which found the engine, is a 60-foot trawler skippered by Herbert Smith of Victoria.

'50-Uppers' Meet

St. Alban's 50-Up Club will hold a meeting in the parish hall, 1468 Ryan, this Thursday at 2:15.

ACTOR HERE

Canada Council Aid Suggested On City Theatre

Austin Willis, one of Canada's top actors, today claimed City Hall's plan to include a civic theatre in the centennial civic precinct.

And he suggested city council's forward thinking might be helped by a Canada Council grant to establish a permanent semi-professional repertory theatre in Victoria.

The star of stage, screen, radio and television paid a visit to the mayor's office before addressing the Douglas Rotary Club on "Show Business in Canada."

Mayor R. B. Wilson took the opportunity to show him the civic precinct plan—which includes renovation of the long-vacant Pantages Theatre as a civic theatre.

BADLY NEEDED

"This is a fantastically good idea and it is the sort of thing our country, because of its geography, badly needs to develop not only local talent but a movement in theatrical talent."

"Many Canadian actors who have achieved foreign success would be glad to come back to Canada to play in such a theatre as Victoria plans and certainly I for one would love to do so."

Mr. Willis pointed out the Canada Council now has a pilot study underway in which, with the co-operation of a community, it might assist in financing a theatre to establish a repertory group.

"I would strongly suggest that Victoria council get more information on this and invite the Canada Council to participate."

FOLLOW IT UP

"I think that is a very worthwhile suggestion and one that should be followed up," responded Mayor Wilson.

He pointed out that a newsletter only recently arrived on his desk had reported that major North American cities have found it useful and profitable to modify civic centres into "cultural centres."

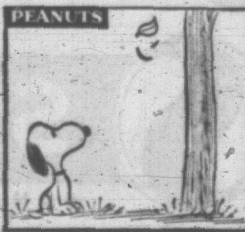

These included such things as civic theatres, museums, art galleries and similar buildings in the downtown area.

ARTS CENTRE

Metropolitan Toronto now is planning a $25,000,000 "arts centre" downtown to supplement its civic centre and similar projects have been undertaken by large cities and small in the U.S.—ranging from New York and Los Angeles to Davenport, Iowa.

"Such facilities represent handsome and important downtown improvements," he quoted from the international newsletter Downtown Idea Exchange. "And in a great many cities downtown is the ideal location for them."

"It is the focus of transportation, the point of greatest concentration of hotel and restaurant facilities, and the place of highest density daytime population."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Pan for Frosted Cakes—
Knife for Frozen Foods

By PENNY SAVER

Are you wondering how to take your cake, to the bazaar without leaving half the frosting on the seat of the car? What you need is an aluminum cake pan with a high-domed clear plastic cover. Lid snaps on securely and will protect the frosting as well as help to keep the cake fresh. Suitable for bazaars or a large family is the extra large size for $2.39. A small loaf pan is 59 cents.

Large size pan can be used to cook and carry spaghetti and meat balls or other dishes you might want to take to a church supper. Food will arrive at its destination as nice as when it left home.

Bottom makes an ideal roaster and top can substitute for a tray. Together it makes an excellent storage box for the frig.

Penny found only one fault, it allows everyone to see what is in the pan so that the cake may not last as long as when you used to store it in some dark recess of your pantry.

Would you like to set up your own pastry shop at home? For $4.25 you can buy the equipment to make cream puffs, meringue shells, eclairs, lady fingers and cookies of all shapes and sizes.

This utensil operates on the same principle as a cake decorator, only it is larger, stronger and more elaborate.

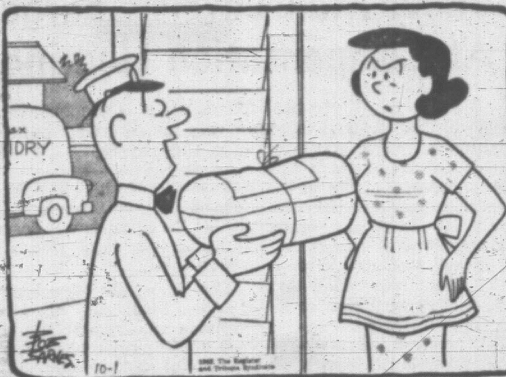

This next item is indispensable to every household that owns a freezer. It is a knife designed especially for cutting frozen foods and costs $1.25. Both sides of the blade have saw edges. It does the work of three knives—cuts, slices and chops. It zips through frozen food, packages and all and will saw through bones, disjoints and scales.

Provided you don't tackle the wood pile it will never need sharpening.

If cake frosting and frozen foods present a problem phone Penny at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Take Advantage of Many Fine Cosmetics on Market

There are so many simply wonderful cosmetics already on the market and new ones appear constantly. It's no wonder that a woman may feel overcome and somewhat confused. There are so many good products that you could make a career of experimenting with them, and with profit, except that this would become boring and, anyway, who has time?

Once in a while I like to call your attention to some of the newer and greatly perfected items. For instance, there is a medicated cream which very gently and slowly peels the excess layers of dead skin which are associated with acne, reduces the oily condition which is the background of acne and has an ingredient which inhibits the growth of bacteria, which also play an important part in the creation and spread of acne.

There is also a medicated mask which tends to loosen blackheads and helps control the excessively oily condition which causes them.

Then there is a medicated compact make-up consisting of a foundation and pressed powder with an antiseptic action. The puff also is antiseptic. This covers blemishes and also is corrective to them.

If your skin is showing the wear and tear of sun and wind and summer fun, there are splendid moisturizing emulsions which are wonderful. You can use these around the clock. One contains fermented milk proteins. This reminds me of the famous milk baths of the past and of Dr. Charlotte Davelport. I first interviewed her when she was 117 years old. She used nothing but cream (from milk) for complexion lubrication. Remember that usually extreme oiliness is the father or mother of blackheads (who wants to claim that honor) and that blackheads are the ancestors of pimples.

So, if you are a teen-ager or a woman who has a very oily skin, it is a good preventative measure to wash your face with soap and water several times daily.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clear The Way For Beauty" (how to deal with skin blemishes) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 48. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY ...

Western Wedding Belles

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, California.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365 Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR ABBY: I attended a wedding on horseback, so "Horse Crazy" needn't feel that her dream of having such a wedding is out of line. At this particular wedding, for the "something old" the bride wore an old buckskin jacket. The "something new" was a big white felt cowboy hat. The "something borrowed" was a silver saddle, and the "something blue" was a pair of blue denim. Even the horse was dressed for the occasion.

WAS THERE.

DEAR ABBY: I was tickled to note in your column that a girl signed "Horse Crazy" inquired about the possibility of being married on horseback. My ambition is a little out of the ordinary, too. I would like to be married under water. My boy friend and I belong to a skin-diving club and we think it would be fun to have an underwater wedding. Has it ever been done, I wonder? So far everyone we have mentioned this to—except our skin-diving club—thinks we are crazy. But, Abby, you have no idea how pure and spiritual you feel under water. After all, isn't water a very important part of the baptismal ceremony?

SKIN DIVER.

DEAR SKIN DIVER: I have never heard of an underwater wedding, so don't order the seaweed until you find a clergyman who shares your enthusiasm for it. Yours is a new version of water on the brain.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column signed "Horse Crazy" shocked me. I didn't know there were people who held the sacrament of marriage in such low esteem that they would consider getting married on a horse. Marriage is a solemn and sober business and in my opinion there is only one proper setting for it: And that's in a church.

SANE.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter got married on horseback July 29 of this year. The minister who performed the ceremony was on horseback, too. The bride and groom were dressed exactly alike, white shirts and black trousers. The wedding took place at a rodeo and there were about 200 people present. They had about 200 at the reception.

ALSO HORSE CRAZY.

Sign Book

Victorians continue to travel south to California during these fall days. Recently signing the visitors' book at British Columbia House in San Francisco were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kelway, Mr. D. M. Callan and Mr. N. D. Long.

Exchange Vows

Metropolitan United Church was scene of a quiet ceremony on Saturday when Miss Gloria J. McRoberts, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McRoberts, 1121 McClure Street, exchanged vows with Mr. Harold G. McWilliams. Rev. C. R. McGillivray officiated and attendants were Mrs. C. C. Crerar and Dr. W. A. Trenholm. The newlyweds are presently honeymooning in California.

Here for Wedding

Here to attend the wedding of Frances Lanyon and David Gardner were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Copp, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Copp, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kennedy and daughter Julie and Mr. Gordon Holland, all of Burnaby; Mr. and Mrs. W. English of Port Coquitlam; and Mr. and Mrs. D. Gardner and family from Pachen Lighthouse Station, and sister, Gloria, from Powell River.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Button, 3912 Quadra Street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently at a reception in the parish hall of Sacred Heart Church following a nuptial high mass celebrated by Fr. Planeta. A golden china table set and matching table cloth were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Button from the Catholic Women's League. During the reception, given by the family who were assisted by the CWL, the guests of honor welcomed and received congratulations from many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Button have five children, George of Vanderhoof, Cliff and Bill of Victoria, Mrs. Joe (Iris) Howroyd and Mrs. Harry (Merle) Glover of Victoria. They also have seven grandchildren.

Wed in Quebec

FO Judith Anne Garside (nursing sister, RCAF, daughter of Mr. G. H. Garside of Regina, Sask., was recently united in marriage with FO John Lawrence Kenneth Faley, RCAF, son of Mrs. A. E. ## Former City Debutante Married in California

In St. Andrew's Presbyterian Chapel at Newport Beach, Calif., on Sept. 6, Marcia Vaughan, a Victoria debutante of 1955, exchanged wedding vows with William Robert McCook. Dr. Charles Deirenfield officiated. Five-branch candelabras, white gladioli and white ribbons were used for the setting. Parents of the couple are Mrs. William R. Vaughan, Corona del Mar, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mosler McCook of Balboa, Calif. The bride wore a sheath line gown of white peau de soie, designed with softly fitted bodice and skirt accented with a flowing back panel touched at the waist with a huge rose. Bodice and panel were embroidered with seed pearls. Her illusion net veil floated from a crown of seed pearls and she carried white phalaenopsis orchids and lily of the valley. Her brother, William-Roger Vaughan, gave her in marriage. Mrs. Marvel Wetmore as matron of honor wore a pure silk lime green sheath with matching velvet hat and carried a spray bouquet of "belles of Ireland" and white and pink carnations. Ernest Mosler McCook stood with his brother as best man and the ushers were William Shephardson McCook, J. B. Shephardson and J. Anthony Shephardson. At a reception which followed a round four-tier cake centered the buffet refreshment table. It was decorated in white with green accents provided by a rare species of "Princess Anne" orchids from South America. Toast was proposed by Stephen Quale, Victoria, B.C. Mrs. Vaughan wore for the wedding a champagne-toned dress of raw silk with feather hat to match. The groom's mother wore a gown of "Breen" silk and wool with matching velvet hat. Both wore gold and brown cymbidium orchid corsages. The bride was born in Seattle and lived in Victoria for 13 years. She was a student at St. Margaret's School for Girls and later was accepted for the Pasadena Playhouse in California. The groom, a graduate of Texas A & M College was a major in the United States Air Force and now is president of an advertising company.

University Years 'Deepest Experience'

Prof. Phoebe Noble of Victoria College, guest speaker at Victoria Municipal Chapter IOOE's bursary presentation and tea, held in the faculty building on the Gordon Head campus of Victoria College, Saturday afternoon, typed years spent at a university as "an individual's deepest experience."

"It is there that students are taught to think. A good student should know how to make up his mind, when to make it up and, just as important, when to change it."

Speaker was introduced by presentation convener, Mrs. J. A. Duhn, municipal educational secretary, and thanked by Miss Christine MacNab.

Mrs. Peter Bell, municipal regent, announced that total bursary awards amounted to $5,635. These included two national chapter Second War bursaries for $1,600. They were presented to Susan Mason, Victoria and Elizabeth Ann Stewart, Duncan, by Mrs. Carlton Colliard, Vancouver, provincial chapter secretary.

LOCAL AWARDS

Ten municipal, 14 primary chapter bursaries and one junior chapter bursary were included in the total.

Receiving $100 municipal bursaries were David Coombes, Esquimalt High School; Andrew Dalton; David Palmer and Lawrence Devlin, all of Victoria College; Gillian Smith, University of British Columbia; Geoffrey Thornburn, Rockland School; Harold Turnham, Mount View High School, and Paul Willing, Belmont High School. Gerald Skinner, Victoria College, received a general proficiency award of $75. Gudrun Langkilde Lauesen, Victoria High School, was awarded the Mrs. Annie Mount Memorial bursary of $100. Robert Burns McMicking Chapter bursaries of $100 were presented to Pamela Woods, Victoria College, Susan Lancaster and Heather Church, both of Oak Bay High School. Royal Roads Chapter awarded the George H. Gardiner Memorial Bursary of $150 to Ross McConnachie, University of British Columbia.

Dianne Summer received $175 from the Major John Hebdon Gillespie Chapter.

Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter presented a $100 bursary to Robert Striha. It was announced that Royal Brides Chapter had awarded $100 to Susan Van Den Berg and $150 to Sheila M. MacEwan; Esquimalt Chapter, $75 to Nancy Grey; Camosun Chapter, $50 to Barry Turnham; Alden Hamber Chapter, $50 to Patricia Thomas; Florence Nightingale Chapter, $100 to Sherran Ann Mitchell and Navy League Chapter, $100 to Richard Senkler, Victoria's only junior chapter; the Oak Leaf Chapter had presented $100 to Martin Chambers. Mrs. R. R. Shortreed, provincial president, travelled from Vancouver to be present at the ceremony. Also present was Mrs. W. R. Hobbs, who instituted the presentations 15 years ago.

Bursary winner David Palmer entertained with a piano selection. He was thanked by Mrs. Elsie Lowthian. Mrs. W. F. Mawdsley, Navy League Chapter, convened the tea which followed, being assisted by educational secretaries of the primary chapters.

St. Mary's Tea Brings Out Many Old Time Members of the Church

A silver tea arranged by St. Mary's Women's Parish Guild at the Victoria Avenue home of Hon. Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton and Mrs. Wootton, last Friday afternoon, developed into a centennial party, with many old-time members of the congregation, a former rector, assistant clergy and officers of the church attending. A sum of $150 was realized. Receiving guests were Mrs. J. Hywel Jones, wife of the present rector; Mrs. T. W. Kensington, guild president; Mrs. T. M. Hughes and Mrs. H. S. Hughes, general conveners; C. T. Teasdale, acting church warden, and Canon T. M. Hughes.

Special guests included Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunn, a former rector of the church for 32 years; Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra, Canon S. J. Wickens and Rev. Cyril F. Venables, former assistant clergy; Dr. W. A. Ferguson, vice-president of the Canadian Bible Society; Lt. Col. R. O. Wilkes, rector of St. Philip's Mission Church of St. Mary's from 1954 to 1960; Mrs. H. Sexton, wife of the Archbishop of British Columbia; Rev. H. D. Martin, retired Bishop of Saskatchewan, and Mrs. Martin; Mrs. R. E. H. Howell, wife of Canon Howell, acting Dean of Christ Church Cathedral; Canon C. Hilary Butler, canon lecturer at Christ Church; Mrs. Montague Bruce, wife of the late Rev. M. Bruce; Mrs. Colin Campbell, wife of the curate of St. John's Church, and L. M. Tyrwhitt Drake, registrar of the diocese and Mrs. Drake.

Other special guests were A. D. Crease, QC; Mrs. Thornton Marshall, Howard Cullis, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bengough, Miss Kitty McClure, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hill-Tout, J. Sledge, Mrs. Usher, Mrs. Bunbyr, Mrs. Horace Hamlet, Mrs. Scott-Mason, Mrs. Hew Paterson, Mrs. William Barraclough, Miss Ruth Jones, Mrs. Philip Steele, Mrs. A. C. Denny and Miss J. Woolson, all of whom have served St. Mary's Church in various capacities over the years. Also present was Mrs. Howard Harmon, daughter of the late Mrs. R. W. Gibson, first honorary president of the guild, with her grandchildren, Andrew and Elizabeth Jane Harmon.

Tea committee included Mrs. T. M. Hughes, Mrs. H. S. Hughes, Mrs. G. T. Hughes, Mrs. J. N. Fraser, Mrs. R. A. Gonnason, Mrs. G. W. C. MacNeill and Miss Frances Price. Guest book was in charge of Mrs. Thomas W. Bird, a past president of the guild.

Transportation conveners were Mrs. J. C. MacDonald, Mrs. T. W. A. Gray and Mrs. W. E. Eliot; hostesses, Mrs. H. A. Bowden, Mrs. C. T. Teasdale, Mrs. D. C. E. MacArthur and Mrs. T. R. Lancaster, church secretary.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—You can put this down in your etiquette and protocol papers; you're supposed to hop to your feet when Jackie Kennedy comes into an auditorium, theatre or meeting—even though you're comfortably seated and have your girdle or belt loosened.

The Four Hundred says so—so does the 2,500 that went to the Lincoln Centre white-tie opening.

As Jackie walked to her chair at Philharmonic Hall, there was a great bustle, scraping and shuffling.

"Do you think we ought to stand?" I heard a man behind me ask.

"Well," replied his wife, "in the presence of royalty..."

She stood up. So did everybody else. So did every body else. "Rocky" and "Bob" and "Hunt" (Huntington Hartford) and "Henry" (Henry Morgan). I was immediately on my feet—also on the feet of a woman next to me who had her shoes off.

We kid our British friends about curtsying to royalty but let's face it we give an "American curtsy" to our First Family. I'll bet we'll even do it when Caroline Kennedy starts hippy-hopping in.

Frank Sinatra's diving more deeply into the gambling business.

ness. He's doubling the size of Lake Tahoe Cal-Neva, hoping to stay open all year and attract winter plungers... Is Sinatra in a deal to toss in with Darryl Zanuck and become one of the owner-geniuses of 20th Century-Fox?

... Carl Sandburg, recently very ill, will tour Israel with Harry Golden.

Hey, there! The Waldorf privately says the new Americana, supposedly the "world's tallest hotel" (150 stories), actually isn't—because it's 100 feet shorter than the Waldorf.

Tony Curtis assures me he and 17-year-old Christine Kaufmann are in no hurry to marry even though Janet Leigh did. Christine's entered June Taylor dancing school; Christine's working over his Facel Vega and getting ready to shoot "Mr. Cognac" in Hollywood. Christine is a real character. When I was interviewing her in Paris, Tony came in and said, "Should I leave?" Christine said, "Yes, please, will you be so nice?"—and he did. How many gals could get away with that to a big movie star?

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Jayne Mansfield cuddled with Jorge Guinle at both Luchow's and Shor's and told him to eat his vitamins; but Enrico Bomba, her married Italian love, will be here in two weeks.

Marlon Brando told a pal, William Redfield, that he's "had it with Hollywood for awhile," and will be here soon. Robert Wagner told a

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by this readers and those who submit the questions for which he will receive a $100.00 prize.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Terry Holaday, age eight, of Kuna, Idaho, for his question:

Do Snails Hibernate?

Mr. Slowpoke is very fussy about the weather. If things are not right, he refuses to come outdoors. This is easy for him to do because he carries his house with him wherever he goes. It is the shell on his back and when the weather is not the way he likes it, he just goes inside and shuts the door.

The garden snail enjoys life in a cool and shady place where the ground is moist. There must also be a soft carpet of grasses, mosses or low growing leaves for him to eat. He cannot abide the bright, dry sunshine and he cannot endure the frosty cold of the winter.

In spite of unfriendly spells of bad weather, many snails live to be two years old. Some survive the coldest of winters when the ground is covered with a deep layer of frosty snow. Some even live in the deserts and manage to live through long droughts of scorching, dry-heat.

The garden snails in Idaho live in what we call a temperate zone. The summers are very hot and the winters are very cold. The Idaho summer is no problem to the garden snail, however. This is because there are many summer showers and Mr. Slowpoke does not mind the heat if there is plenty of moisture in the air and if he stays in a shady place. But the Idaho winters are too much for him.

When fall comes, he crawls inside his shell and prepares for the long, deep sleep of hibernation. He builds a papery door over the opening of his shell to seal in some moist air. He may also add a few spikes across his doorway to keep out his enemies. For months he may hibernate in the soil, hidden among the mosses or under a blanket of leaves and snow.

No Winter Problem on Desert

The desert snail has no winter problems. The weather is warm enough for him to stay busy and there is usually plenty of morning dew to provide him with moisture. His problems strike in the summer when the desert plants are parched. There is no food, no shade and no moisture. The desert snail uses the same method as the Idaho snail uses to solve his winter problems. However, when an animal goes to sleep to protect himself from the summer weather he does not call it hibernation. It is estivation. The Idaho snail hibernates, the desert snail estivates.

A snail can keep busy, even when the weather is very cold or very hot—if there is plenty of moisture in the air. Moisture is most important to his skin. If there is not enough moisture in the air, his skin shrivels up and cracks apart. Very hot weather and very cold weather both take moisture from the air. And when the air is dry Mr. Slowpoke must either hibernate or estivate.

Andy sends a Hammond's Library World Atlas to Kathy Thompson, age 12, of Huntsville, Ala. for her question:

What river has the most water?

The world's longest rivers are the Nile, the Amazon and the Missouri-Mississippi—which is actually one and the same river. The three giants are each about 4,000 miles long—give or take a few miles. In length, there is little to choose between them. But there is a great difference in the amount of water they carry to the ocean.

The most watery river in the world is, without question, the Amazon of South America. It carries more than all the waters in the Nile and the Mississippi plus the waters carried by the great Yangtze river of China. The mighty Amazon gathers the drainage from two and a half million square miles of land and it carries more water by far than any other river.

Guilty of Theft

A charge of robbery with violence against Donald G. Tucker of HMCS Naden was dismissed in city police court Friday.

But Tucker was found guilty of a lesser charge of theft under $50, and bound over for good behavior for six months.

Tucker had been charged with taking a watch and $5 from James H. Rowley of Kilt mat in Victoria West Park early Sept. 8.

Comedy Outshines Suspense In Theatre Guild's Opener

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

"Ladies in Retirement," by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham.

It was extremely well set and had been handled with considerable technical expertise, by director-designer Allan Purdy.

As to acting there were no bad performances, however some doubt could be expressed as to interpretation here and there.

Major climatic scenes contain all the elements that have caused this play to be designated a "thriller." And here is where it appeared that an otherwise well-mounted, competent production fell down a little.

The central character, Ellen Creed, is the one who must provide us with most of the intense drama and color. In this major role, Helen Peaker achieves wonders by completely submerging her normally bright, sparkling personality and giving us a characterization unlike anything she has done previously for the Guild.

DRY, COLD
However, while her performance, had authority it was somewhat dry and old. The interpretation did not convey the profoundly pitying, over-protective love Ellen bears toward her sisters, which is the crux of the piece.

Betty Mayne was outstanding as the excitable, dithery Louisa. She and she alone, found exactly the right blend of comedy-pathos-earnestness. The other sister, Emily, played by Margaret Johnston, was a strong portrayal that could have done with some more eccentric "business".

EFFECTIVE TEAM

In a regrettably short part Margaret Martin was excellent. Vera Friedrich and Robert Cooke were an effective team, well cast and using good pace and variety in a bright counterpoint to the main theme.

The production continues nightly at Langham Court Theatre through next Saturday.

Clan Macleod of Vancouver Island sponsors tonight's performance, Christ Church Cathedral Cubs and Scouts, Tuesday's, and a special performance Oct. 8 will be sponsored by Voice of Women, Victoria committee.

'Walkers' Protest A-Arms

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three men left Sunday on a Vancouver-Berlin march staged as a protest against nuclear armaments and division of Germany.

Hans Sinn, 36; Lorne Bennett, 20, and Jeff Topliss, 19, said they hope to pick up supporters as they march through Canada to Halifax.

The marchers plan to cross the Atlantic in the spring and walk through Norway, Sweden, Denmark, West Germany and East Germany.

They said they have been informed by the East German government that they will receive no support on its territory.

The trio expect the march will take between eight and 10 months.

They plan to touch Hope, Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton, Trail and Grand Forks in their march through British Columbia.

The 2,800-mile long Mekong River splits into three arms in South Viet Nam to form one of the world's foremost rice-producing areas.

MAIMED AND MUTILATED Hungarian beauty Hajna deKaplany died Sunday night, a month after her husband told police in San Francisco he poured acid over her and attacked her with a butcher knife because he thought she was unfaithful. The former model's death was attributed to "general deterioration." Dr. Gena deKaplany, 36-year-old former Hungarian Freedom Fighter, is in jail charged with attempted murder, mayhem and assault with acid and is to appear in court Friday.

U.S. Singer Jailed As Spy

BERLIN (Reuters) — Gabrielle Hammerstein, a 38-year-old American singer, was sentenced Aug. 3 to six years imprisonment in East Germany on charges of espionage, an American spokesman said today.

News of Miss Hammerstein's sentence reached West Berlin through "private sources," the spokesman said.

Miss Hammerstein, of Jackson Heights, N.Y., was tried secretly by an East German court at Neubrandenburg. She had been held incommunicado since she disappeared last January.

The American spokesman said details of the charges against Miss Hammerstein were not known.

Earlier this year the United States mission in Berlin tried unsuccessfully to enlist Soviet aid to help trace the singer.

Persons living in West Berlin who met Miss Hammerstein shortly before her disappearance have told American authorities here she appeared to be under mental strain.

KEPT SECRET FOR THREE YEARS

Woman Lawyer Wed Murderer

LONDON (AP) — Nemone Lethbridge, a beautiful woman lawyer kept her marriage secret for three years. Her husband is a convicted murderer, Irish-born James O'Connor.

O'Connor, 44, is 14 years older than his wife. In 1942, he was arrested at the jail gates after serving nine months for stealing and was charged with murder of a London man.

He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. At the last moment he was reprieved and sent to Dartmoor Prison.

O'Connor served 10 years and was released in 1952.

They met in London pub, recalled O'Connor Sunday. Miss Lethbridge was collecting facts for a crime book. A year later, in August, 1959, they slipped away to Dublin to marry. Only their closest friends and relatives were told.

O'Connor said they kept their romance secret for the sake of Miss Lethbridge's career.

Petite and brunette, she has appeared in a number of murder trials. Now she is helping her husband try to clear his name. He has always claimed he is innocent.

Golf Club House Gutted By Fire

NELSON (CP) — The 40-year-old clubhouse of the Nelson Golf and Country Club was destroyed by fire early Sunday.

Cause of the blaze was not known.

Local fire department crew pumped 400 gallons of water into the flames, then had to let the building burn when no other water was available.

The damage, estimated at $30,000, was partly covered by insurance.

They've never seen anything like it before
(and neither have you!)

They're looking at the revolutionary Centurion TV Chassis.
It's an ELECTROHOME engineering triumph that creates new standards of performance and reliability. All the components are grouped around the picture tube on a vertical base that easily swings down if service is ever required.
Here's just a sample of what else is new with ELECTROHOME TV to add to your viewing pleasure:
Exclusive ELECTROHOME "Rejocoguard" trap filters out adjacent channel interference. Pre-set fine tuning "remembers" correct adjustment on every station. New frame grid amplifier gives sharper picture—even on fringe stations. Circuit breaker protects components from damaging power surge—eliminates the need for many service calls. Silicon rectifier never burns out. Toroidal yoke virtually doubles tube life. And the unique air flow keeps chassis cool for added years of trouble-free performance.
There's a wonderful difference in styling too. It's not surprising, of course, that ELECTROHOME Television looks so much more at home in a gracious living room. Cabinets are styled by DeLcraft—the highly respected fine furniture division of ELECTROHOME. Good taste, choice hardwoods and meticulous craftsmanship create a beautiful setting for Canada's most advanced TV chassis. So reliable it's backed by a full year's warranty on parts!
You owe it to yourself to see TV with the difference soon—at your nearby ELECTROHOME dealers.

King's Men

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—The central government has declared a state of emergency in the diamond-rich south-Kasai province after a new revolt by supporters of self-styled "King" Albert Kalonji.

The United Nations reported they revolted against a faction loyal to the central government.

TO BLOCK
DOCK STRIKE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Longshoremen from Maine to Texas went on strike today. President Kennedy promptly invoked the Taft-Hartley law in an effort to halt the walkout.

The president named a three-member inquiry board to study the dispute as the first step toward obtaining a federal court injunction to stop the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Nearly 90,000 dock workers went off the job after their contract expired at midnight. This paralyzed shipping in ports along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, leaving vessels with their cargo unloaded.

Commons
Waits Speech
By Pearson

(Special to the Times)

OTTAWA—A tense House of Commons today awaited the opening of hostilities at the new session.

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson was scheduled to lead off the opposition assault on the Diefenbaker government later this afternoon and move a no-confidence motion this evening.

The opposition leader was delayed in getting the floor by a lengthy question period and by the introduction of bills.

Next in line to speak are Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Social Credit leader Robert Thompson and H. W. Herd, NDP House leader.

Mr. Pearson's speaking time today is unlimited, however, and it's doubtful whether the prime minister will get the floor much before the scheduled 10 p.m. adjournment.

Wording of the Liberal no-confidence motion still is secret and all parties will be waiting anxiously for it.

Mr. Pearson has said he intends to make his motion in a form which the other two opposition groups will find difficult to oppose. If they accept, the government topples.

A vote on the Liberal no-confidence motion is to take place Thursday night, just before adjournment.

Sons Renew
Agassiz Trek

HOPE (CP)—Freedomites became trekkers again this weekend, moving 90 miles from Princeton into this valley at the head of the Fraser River.

It will be a month Tuesday since the Freedomites left their homes in the Kootenay, 300 miles to the east, after announcing their intention of marching on Agassiz, where 68 Freedomite terrorists are held in Mountain Prison.

The Donkohobers have marched and been shuttled westward in cars. Long camping stops were made near Grand Forks and at Bromley Park, a government campsite east of Princeton.

Agassiz, on the north side of the Fraser River, is 35 miles west of here.

About 400 of the 1,000-old Bromley Camp members arrived here Sunday and the rest were expected to follow as quickly as cars could carry them.

One police officer said there was no traffic trouble as about 20 cars shuttled back and forth Sunday over the Hope-Princeton Highway.

STAY IN PARK

The Donkohobers are staying in Coquihalla Park, a village owned site.

Paul Scherle, chairman of the village commission, said earlier the Sons could use the site for two days before they moved on to Agassiz. He added that now the group is not likely to move until Wednesday at the earliest.

Agassiz is a part of Kent municipality which passed an emergency bylaw two weeks ago saying the Freedomites couldn't enter Agassiz, because their past record of violence constituted a hazard. There was no indication what attempts, if any, will be made to prevent the Sons from entering.

Other bylaws prevent residency by the Sons near Mountain Prison.

CONFESSES
15 DEATHS

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—A small man from Texas walked into a sheriff's office Sunday and calmly confessed to murdering 15 hoboes "to put them out of their misery."

Sheriff Sandy Robinson of Tulare County said Milton Taylor Vest, 36, rattled off methods, dates and places of the deaths of transients in California, Arizona and Texas.

"He's not a crank," Sgt. Gene Rutledge commented. "He knows too much."

Vest, who stands five feet, seven inches, told detectives he stabbed most of his victims but also pushed them off bridges, set them afire or bludgeoned them.

WALKER CHANGES SIDES

Little Rock Riots
Magnified to War

By REILMAN MORIN

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Little Rock was a skirmish. The riots just five years ago in the capital of Arkansas were ugly and dangerous. In Oxford, the ugliness and danger is magnified to a gigantic scale.

And one of the ironies of the situation here is that former major-general Edwin A. Walker, who commanded the federal troops that took over Little Rock, is on the opposite side of the fence here.

Walker whipped up the students and others on the campus of the University of Mississippi Sunday night, when it became known that James H. Meredith, Negro, was on the campus.

After the Little Rock riots, Walker said that he found his duty there distasteful.

However, at the time, he was the crisp and professional soldier who gave no sign of his feelings. He set up his command post at the corner of Central High School—the object of the riots.

The contrast is most marked by the size of the operations here. In Little Rock, it was largely quiet if you were three or four blocks from the school. In Oxford, there is little quiet anywhere. On the contrary, there is a brooding sense of disaster.

Looks like the U.S.'s battles are being won on the playin' fields of Mississippi.

The federal Socrads certainly make a Loyal Opposition.

Amalgamation'll be one o' those things that when y' git 'em y' wonder why y' waited so long.

THE WORLD

LONDON (UPI)—News papers in Europe and Asia gave "big" headlines to the Mississippi crisis today and called it one of the gravest conflicts in American history since the Civil War.

From London to Moscow and from Tokyo to Singapore and beyond, the dramatic developments at the University of Mississippi were front-page news edition after edition. In most places they pushed local news from the limelight.

The Times of London said the Oxford, Miss., showdown proved a "much graver test" than the Little Rock desegregation battle in 1957.

BATTLEFIELD

Campus
A Mess

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—By dawn's early light the University of Mississippi campus lay in shambles.

At least 15 automobiles lay smashed or smoldering from flames that consumed them in last night's riot.

The campus was strewn with broken glass, soft drink bottles, sticks and small boulders that were used by the rioters.

POUNDED TO BITS

One station wagon that was burned could hardly be recognized as a vehicle. Other cars had been literally pounded to pieces.

As day broke on the campus the place resembled a battlefield being mopped up by troops.

Army units were marching in battalion strength to the cadence of hip-two-three-four from commanding officers. Other soldiers were looting on the grass in a rest area.

A force of about 100 soldiers formed at daybreak near the main campus entrance but made no effort to march downtown to clean out marauding demonstrators who were milling through the courthouse square area.

LIGHTS BROKEN

In the final stages of last night's demonstration, rioters tried to smash everything in sight and managed to plunge most of the campus into darkness by breaking out street lights.

A bulldozer that was commandeered by the mob at one point was parked in front of the Lyceum Building where it had stalled.

A fire truck which students manned in a tug-of-war with federal marshals who finally captured it also parked in front of the Lyceum. Its hoses were gone, its lights and windshield smashed.

Outside the Lyceum Building a force of battered but steady United States marines still held their firm thin line.

Newsman Shot;
150 Arrested

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith, a Negro, enrolled in the University of Mississippi today under the bayoneted rifles of the federal government. Minutes later renewed violence began in downtown Oxford.

Mississippi national guard troops—under federal control by presidential order—fired over the heads of an angry mob in downtown Oxford in a pitched battle.

The Tupelo, Miss., guardsmen drove away a mob from which the sound of firing sounded minutes before, using the threat of bayonets.

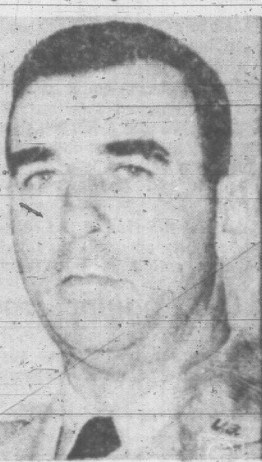

The new outbreak of disorder came after a lull in night-long rioting in which two persons—a foreign correspondent and an Oxford resident—were killed.

Federal forces—beefed up to 4,000 men—took over the Courthouse Square of this seething town of 5,283. With bayonets at the ready, they blasted groups of angry youths into rout with tear gas.

Business ground to a virtual halt in the heart of town. Doors to many shops were locked.

Arrests jumped to 150. Officers of the riot-trained military police said many of those taken into custody lived up to 500 miles away.

Roving groups of incensed southerners vented their passions in bitterness over the registration of the 29-year-old Meredith—the first Negro knowingly admitted to Ole Miss in its 114-year history.

WALKER

UNDER ARREST

Ex-General
Accused of Inciting Mob

Times News Service

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced the arrest today of former army major-general Edwin Walker on charges of inciting a rebellion or insurrection.

Kennedy said Walker was arrested at a military roadblock near Oxford, Miss., and would be arraigned later today.

The charges against Walker were:

Conspiracy to incite rebellion or insurrection. This carries a maximum penalty of a $20,000 fine and 20 years in prison.

Actually inciting to rebellion or insurrection. This involves a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

Conspiracy to hinder officers in the performance of their duties. This carries a maximum penalty of six years and a $5,000 fine.

Assaulting a federal officer. Maximum penalty $5,000 fine and/or three years in prison.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

OCTOBER 1

Saturday at 8 o'clock gas was lighted in Carroll's liquor store, and in the street in front of the same premises. Today and this evening, several other stores will be lighted with gas. Everything connected with the work appears satisfactory.

If they are guaranteed the sum of $3,500, the Blanche Opera Troupe who are delighting San Francisco with their entertainment, will visit this city and give eighteen performances. Mr. Lumley Franklin is attempting to find 150 subscribers at $25 each to finance the project. About 50 names have already been obtained.

The gunboat Grappler, with the Comox expedition aboard left this morning. It is believed some 50 settlers went up.

Mr. Digby Palmer, a musical composer of note from Sheffield, England, arrived today. Mr. Palmer, a pianist, will be giving lessons to those who may require his services.

POLICE 'IN WOODS' WITH TOYS

A story that bears were on the loose in the bush near West Saanich Road was brought home by two brothers to their parents Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gee, 5041 Prospect Lake, were confronted by wide-eyed Barry, 11, and David, nine, about 3 p.m.

They had been playing with their pal Douglas Anstey, 10, of 4917 Prospect Lake, when they saw two huge animals glaring at them through the undergrowth. They quit the bush hurriedly.

Saanich police, ready for the worst, proceeded to the area with caution.

The bears, however, were stuffed, all four feet of them. So were two large yellow and white dogs, five black and white spotted dogs and a blue poodle which was found with them.

DWARFED by stuffed toys they found in bushes off West Saanich Road near Dominion Astrophysical Observatory are three Prospect Lake School boys,

MONTE ROBERTS

There was a real gem of a classified ad in the paper the other day—an ad which I have been rereading from time to time, just to revive my faith in the basic humility of human beings.

Here's the ad, from the rental section:

HIGH ROCKLAND
Spacious four rooms, ground floor, garage, sea glimpse, Vacant Nov. 1.
Isn't that delightful?
Sea glimpse!
Not "magnificent marine vista" or breath-taking ocean view" or "window to the great outdoors."
Just a modest, deprecatory, take-it-or-leave-it sea glimpse.

I suppose it is too much to hope that this little ad will set a trend... but if it did, couldn't you imagine ads such as these:

FOR RENT: House with rooms in it. Air-conditioning or you can replace broken windows at your own expense. A few modern conveniences, including indoor plumbing. Within easy walking distance of downtown, if you call three miles uphill easy.

NEW CARS: See the new, new, new 1963 Putt-Putts now at Magna Motors. All new. Each car equipped with four wheels. Tires on most of them. Practically as good as the 1962 models and not much more expensive.

USED CARS: Honest John has a bunch of used cars he'd like to deal off as soon as possible because he had a bad week at Sandown. All of Honest John's used cars are one-owner cars—own one at a time, that is—and were driven exclusively by Little Old Ladies, some of who remembered to have oil put in the crank case occasionally.

ROOF REPAIRS: Does your roof leak? We guarantee our work. If your roof still leaks after we repair it, we will loan you a bucket.

HAIR STYLING: Want to look beautiful? Leave it to us. We will style your hair and give it a permanent wave which will be permanent for 24 hours or even two days if you're lucky.

I guess it is much too much to hope, but, if the example set by the little ad offering "sea glimpse" were followed wouldn't it be slightly better?

TOPICS OF THE DAY

James Audain, 333 King George Terrace, was elected president of the Oak Bay Social Credit constituency at a recent meeting of the group held in the Oak Bay Municipal Hall.

Vice-presidents elected were: K. Murphy (first), Mrs. C. D. Bury (second), G. Petch (third), A. E. Bigelow (fourth), H. P. Brown (fifth), Maj. W. Cummings (sixth).

The Vancouver Island Branch of the Purchasing Agents' Association of British Columbia will hold its October dinner meeting Wednesday, 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. How many rooms does the White House have? L.F.A.
A. The White House has 132 rooms and 20 baths.

Q. Which countries does Canada do most of her trade with? B.H.

A. In 1961 the five leading sources of Canada's imports were the United States, the United Kingdom, Venezuela, West Germany and Japan; the five leading sources of exports were United States, United Kingdom, Japan, West Germany and Communist China.

Anyone wishing a question answered in the "Ask the Times" column should send the question to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor's Office, and answers will be published daily.

Saanich police Sunday night captured two youths red-handed who had broken into Mattie's Farm, Cordova Bay Road, and who admitted being responsible for a rash of break-ins at the farm through the summer.

Two police constables were posted on the premises as a "stake out," when the two 17-year-old youths broke in a door at 1 a.m. and began rifling vending machines.

Upon being apprehended they admitted similar break-ins to the premises during the summer.

Wanted—a young good-looking man to play the part of a master forger and a young attractive girl to play a champion safecracker.

Those eligible may attend a rehearsal in St. Matthias' Hall Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for a performance of the play, "The White Sheep of the Family," by St. Matthias' Dramatic Society.

The play will be staged during the week of Dec. 3 for five nights.

The Optimist Club of Victoria will continue its boys' work by conducting choral and oratorical classes commencing this week.

MYSTERY ENGINE
Picked up between Albert Head and William Head by the trawler Elwin S. has the RCAF puzzled. No one knows how the aircraft engine was sunk in 45 fathoms but there is speculation it may be from a crashed plane. Here, from left, Jack Lumatta, Mike Martin, Ochs Ludwig and Johnny Veness examine the salt-eroded engine at Fisherman's Float where it was landed. (Times photo).

Eroded Motor May Solve Plane Mystery

A badly-eroded aircraft engine, dragged up from 45 fathoms of water between Albert Head and William Head on Friday, may be the clue that will solve the mystery of a missing aircraft.

Fishermen say they have been snagging their nets for years near the spot where the engine was picked up by the deep-sea dragger Elwin S. There is speculation the engine is just one part of a plane sunk in the vicinity.

The RCAF has identified it as a nine-cylinder radial engine. The three blades of the propeller are missing.

UNSURE
One of the difficulties in identifying the engine and where it came from is that no one is sure if an aircraft ever crashed in the area.

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Vancouver is checking for any record of a plane missing in this vicinity.

TCA has been notified of the find by the RCAF. There is a slim chance the engine may provide the clue to the mysterious disappearance of a TCA Lodestar aircraft 15 years ago.

NO TRACE
The plane, with 15 persons aboard, passed over Sea Island Airport and then disappeared. No trace of it has ever been found.

The engine is now at Erie Street Fishermen's Float where it was inspected by RCAF personnel this morning.

The Elwin S., which found the engine, is a 60-foot trawler skippered by Herbert Smith of Victoria.

'50-Uppers' Meet

St. Alban's 50-Up Club will hold a meeting in the parish hall, 1468 Ryan, this Thursday at 2:15.

ACTOR HERE

Canada Council Aid Suggested On City Theatre

Austin Willis, one of Canada's top actors, today acclaimed City Hall's plan to include a civic theatre in the centennial civic precinct.

And he suggested city council's forward thinking might be helped by a Canada Council grant to establish a permanent semiprofessional repertory theatre in Victoria.

The star of stage, screen, radio and television paid a visit to the mayor's office before addressing the Douglas Rotary Club on "Show Business in Canada."

Mayor R. B. Wilson took the opportunity to show him the civic precinct plan—which includes renovation of the long-vacant Pantages Theatre as a civic theatre.

BADLY NEEDED

"This is a fantastically good idea and it is the sort of thing our country, because of its geography, badly needs to develop not only local talent but a movement in theatrical talent."

Many Canadian actors who have achieved foreign success would be glad to come back to Canada to play in such a theatre as Victoria plans and certainly I for one would love to do so.

Mr. Willis pointed out the Canada Council now has a pilot study underway in which, with the co-operation of a community, it might assist in financing a theatre to establish a repertory group.

"I would strongly suggest that Victoria council get more information on this and invite the Canada Council to participate."

FOLLOW IT UP

"I think that is a very worthwhile suggestion and one that should be followed up," responded Mayor Wilson.

He pointed out that a newsletter only recently arrived on his desk had reported that major North American cities have found it useful and profitable to modify civic centres into "cultural centres."

These included such things as civic theatres, museums, art galleries and similar buildings in the downtown area.

ARTS CENTRE

Metropolitan Toronto now is planning a $25,000,000 "arts centre" downtown to supplement its civic centre and similar projects have been undertaken by large cities and small in the U.S.—ranging from New York and Los Angeles to Davenport, Iowa.

"Such facilities represent handsome and important downtown improvements," he quoted from the international newsletter Downtown Idea Exchange. "And, in a great many cities downtown is the ideal location for them."

"It is the focus of transportation, the point of greatest concentration of hotel and restaurant facilities and the place of highest density daytime population."

TWO AND HALF HOURS IN WATER

Brothers Just Miss Death In Renfrew Boating Mishap

By IAIN HUNTER

Two brothers narrowly escaped drowning Saturday afternoon when their small boat overturned in Port Renfrew harbor.

Hugh and John McKee, both fathers of three, were in the water over two-and-a-half hours before making it to shore.

THROWN OUT

The two were out fishing when a large wave broke over the boat about 11:30 a.m. and throwing them into the water.

The brothers, in heavy clothing, clung to the overturned boat and, when no help came, started paddling and kicking it before them toward the nearest shore. This took over two-and-a-half hours.

They had to ride large breakers to get to shore. However, John McKee, at this point became separated from the boat.

"We were just changing sides," his brother Hugh told the Times, "when John shouted 'Look out, here comes a big one.' I felt a rope hanging down and wrapped it around my wrist just in time."

John missed the boat and drifted away.

Both he and his brother, who was swimming along about 60 or 70 yards behind, were battered by the waves on the rocks.

EXHAUSTED

"We were pretty exhausted by the time we finally made dry land," Hugh McKee said. "By this time it was after 2 p.m."

No one was there to help them when they landed, and they had to walk through bush out to the road about 400 to 500 yards.

Mr. McKee said they were both capable swimmers.

"I can thank my father for that," he said.

Bridges Talks To Local Longshoremen

Harry Bridges, controversial president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, Sunday night addressed the membership of the Victoria local during a few hours' visit.

He was in Vancouver today to help the union's B.C. wing plan further negotiations in a prolonged dispute with the B.C. Shipping Federation.

Mr. Bridges presented a general review of union business in his talk to the Victoria local, at a meeting in the Victoria Labor Hall.

BUDDIES, despite the name, are No Buddy and his owner Roy Passmore. The young Victorian and his seven-year-old bay gelding took two seconds in important riding events at Vancouver's Horse of the Year show over the weekend. The gelding, originally from Alberta, was purchased by Mr. Passmore only two months ago and leaped from a virtual unknown in local circles to prominence by its showing. (Times photo).

City Horses, Riders Win 13 Ribbons in Vancouver

Victoria horses and riders took 13 ribbons at British Columbia's 1962 championship horse show over the weekend.

They competed against a strong field entered in the annual Horse of the Year Show sponsored in Vancouver by Zone 5 of the Canadian Horse Shows Association.

Entries for the top show of the year qualify only if they have won prizes at CFSA-recognized regional shows during the year.

JUMP-OFF

Well-known Victorian Jean Dunbar and her horse Seven Up took second place in the feature event—open jumping—

ARMY'S TRAINING PAYS OFF FOR SOLDIER LOST IN WOODS

An army private walked out of thick bush in the Shawnigan area late this morning after spending Sunday night in the open.

Pte. S. G. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith, 741 Lamson, described his ordeal in the Eagle Heights area as "just like a typical army 'manoeuvre'."

He said he became "twisted around" while out hunting Sunday, and failed to meet his companion Henry Cameron, 2975 Orillia, at 2 p.m. as planned.

Pte. Smith made a shelter for himself as he had learned in the army and spent the night in the bush.

Injured Workers 'Bullied'

Labor Man Levels Charge At Compensation Hearing

A charge that the Workmen's Compensation Board bullies injured workers was heard today before a provincial royal commission in Vancouver.

Labor and management took definite, opposing stands as the commission, under Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, began hearings into WCB operations.

A British Columbia Federation of Labor brief asked that the board release figures on injury claim rejections.

"This pertinent information is not published in the board's annual report," said E. P. O'Neill, federation secretary-treasurer.

"This information, we believe, will prove our contention that since 1955 there has been a severity of administration which has resulted in proportionately fewer workmen receiving compensation."

Letters from the WCB to

claimants in which claims were rejected did "not even specify whether the rejection was based on medical or legal grounds in most cases."

"Complaints are often heard of the treatment afforded workmen who appear for review of their rejected claims," Mr. O'Neill said.

"No transcripts, written reasons, witnesses or counsel are allowed."

"Workmen complain of abuse in the form of unnecessarily harsh questioning and of being made to feel guilty, and confused. In short, it is alleged that the workman is bullied."

Industry Claims Double Payment

The B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in its brief, protested that industry in the west coast provinces pays twice for hospital care of injured workmen.

Robert B. McDonnell, provincial chairman, said in his brief that in 1961, WCB payments to hospitals totalled $1,847,258. These funds were provided solely by employers to the board, he said.

However, since 1954, industry has paid 5 per cent provincial sales tax on all capital and maintenance costs and on most raw material costs.

Two per cent of this, he said, was earmarked in 1954 to provide hospital care for all citizens.

"We estimate about 40 per cent of the sales tax is collected from employers," he said.

"We submit that these multiple hospital charges are unfair and that employers should not be required to pay the hospital costs of workers from the workmen's compensation fund as these hospital costs are amply provided for through taxation to which employers contribute in a very substantial way."

Record Pace Maintained In Building

Greater Victoria's year-long building boom maintained its record pace last month. Victoria and Saanich building permit figures showed today.

By the end of September, Victoria issued more than $10,000,000 worth of permits; double the total issued in the full 12 months of 1961.

Saanich totals pushed past the $3,000,000 mark—almost 30 per cent ahead of last year—and showed strong promise of setting an all-time record by the end of the year.

$1.1 MILLION

Here's what the two building departments reported after tabulating September permits.

Victoria issued 566 permits during the month valued at $1,422,547 compared with 565 permits estimated at $1,271,798 a year ago.

This brought the total for the first nine months of the year to 4,700 permits worth $10,770,558.

In the corresponding period of 1961, the city issued a total of 4,649 permits with an estimated value of $5,271,917.

Saanich building department issued 102 permits worth $662,335, last month including 32 dwellings valued at $106,600.

It issued 95 permits worth $436,270 in September, 1961, including 26 dwellings valued at $335,800.

919 PERMITS

Total to date this year is 919 permits worth an estimated $9,043,521 compared with 854 permits valued at $6,819,653 during the corresponding period last year.

House construction provided the impetus for Saanich's boom, accounting for 359 permits valued at $5,206,151 so far this year compared with 303 permits worth $3,973,450 in 1961.

BIG NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

LONDON (UPI) — Newspapers in Europe and Asia gave big headlines to the Mississippi crisis today and called it one of the gravest conflicts in American history since the Civil War.

From London to Moscow and from Tokyo to Singapore and beyond, the dramatic developments at the University of Mississippi were front page news edition after edition. In most places they pushed local news from the limelight.

The Times of London said the Oxford, Miss., showdown proved a "much graver test" than the Little Rock desegregation battle in 1957.

PEARSON:

'Inescapable' Duty to Move No-Confidence

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson said today it is his "inescapable" duty to propose non-confidence in the minority Progressive Conservative government after 63 per cent of the voters declared their lack of confidence in the June 18 general election.

On the basis of the government's past record and its record since the election, the government did not deserve the support of the three opposition parties in the Commons which outnumbered the government 148 to 116, he said.

Mr. Pearson reiterated, almost from his first sentence, his intention to propose a non-confidence motion. He rose in the Commons at 4:44 p.m. (EDT) to a packed chamber and public and diplomatic galleries crowded to capacity.

His address began almost two hours after the Commons met — after the formal introduction of a long list of bills and government resolutions, and the daily question period.

Kinaman Wins Opener At Sandown

J. McMahon's Kinaman was winner of the first at Sandown Park today with a time of 1:18 for the six furlongs.

Waraway ran second and Matchet was third.

Kinaman with Wesley Jones up paid $3.20, $3 and $2.30. Waraway was ridden by Larry Kuntake and paid $5 and $2.90, while third-place Matchet, ridden by George Miller, paid $2.80.

The quinnella was worth $19.30.

Brown Wheat, piloted by Kuntake, won the second with a time of 1:47 for the six furlongs and paid $1.20, $3.10 and $2.00. Silent Flight, with Jockey Charlie Ulrich, was second and paid $3.40, $2.80. Third was Macbane ridden by Gordon Askins and paying $2.80.

JFK MOVES TO BLOCK DOCK STRIKE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Longshoremen from Maine to Texas went on strike today. President Kennedy promptly invoked the Taft-Hartley law in an effort to halt the walkout.

The president named a three-member inquiry board to study the dispute as the first step toward obtaining a federal court injunction to stop the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Nearly 90,000 dock workers went off the job after their contract expired at midnight. This paralyzed shipping in ports along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, leaving vessels with their cargo unloaded.

TWO DEAD IN U.S. RIOT ON SEGREGATION

'BLOOD ALL OVER ME'

Sidney Pilot Found Alive Beside Wreck

Not often does the lethal Coast Range spur dominated by Mt. Cheam give a lost flier back, but Ernest Johnston of Sidney, charter pilot for Victoria Flying Services, today lies safe if battered in Vancouver's Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

To his young wife—shocked into hospital herself by the ordeal—life by her own admission has taken on a different color.

"I knew he'd come out of it," she said. "He's Irish, and you can't stop an Irishman."

Mr. Johnston was fetched in by Royal Canadian Air Force helicopter Sunday from the mountainside above the Hope-Princeton Highway where he had lain helpless beside his smashed plane since Thursday, when a 200-mile flight from Castlegar to Patricia Bay ended against a timbered ridge.

CIVILIAN PILOT

He was spotted by Gordon June, one of a number of civilian pilots who joined RCAF Search and Rescue in an all-out hunt for the former air force flier.

"It's a miracle," said Mrs. Johnston, who came to Vancouver Island with her husband and their baby daughter from Edmonton two months ago. "He's safe, and right now, that's all that matters. I'm not asking for more than that."

Mr. Johnston's escape was miraculous—sketchy accounts indicate that his single-engine Cessna plowed through tree-tops and flipped when it struck—but his finding and rescue is a story of skilled searchers pattern-flying over some of the wildest terrain in North America.

Known as the "aircraft graveyard," this rugged triangle of mountains and gorges has claimed two civilian airliners and several military planes for a score of well over 100 lives. It makes its own weather, generally foul, and radio communication has a nasty trick of blanking out amid its tall peaks and steep-sided troughs.

The Cessna was last heard from as it crossed the perimeter of the graveyard at 10:45 a.m. Thursday between Princeton and Hope. Its pilot reported strong turbulence, gusty winds, and heavy rain.

'TERRIBLE CRASH'

Mr. Johnston, whose condition is reported "satisfactory," picks up the account here:

"I don't know what went wrong," he said from his hospital bed. "First thing I can remember is the terrible crash. I crawled out of the plane, blood all over me, then just lay next to it."

"I don't know what time it was—I couldn't think clearly. What worried me most was thirst. I'd have given anything for a glass of water."

"I was dazed and time meant nothing, except that I was thirsty."

"I could hear a stream nearby but I couldn't crawl to it. My hands, my feet and my chest hurt."

"I can remember it rained."

U.K. Plant Struck

COVENTRY, England (AP) — Five thousand men went on strike at the giant Jaguar automobile plant today, halting all production.

BATTLEFIELD

Campus A Mess

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — By dawn's early light the University of Mississippi campus lay in shambles.

At least 15 automobiles lay smashed or smoldering from flames that consumed them in last night's riot.

The campus was strewn with broken glass, soft drink bottles, sticks and small boulders that were used by the rioters.

POUNDED TO BITS

One station wagon that was burned could hardly be recognized as a vehicle. Other cars had been literally pounded to pieces.

As day broke on the campus the place resembled a battlefield being mopped up by troops.

Army units were marching in battalion strength to the cadence of bugle-blasts from commanding officers. Other soldiers were looting on the grass in a rest area.

A force of about 100 soldiers formed at daybreak near the main campus entrance but made no effort to march downtown to clean out marauding demonstrators who were milling through the courthouse square area.

LIGHTS BROKEN

In the final stages of last night's demonstration rioters tried to smash everything in sight and managed to plunge most of the campus into darkness by breaking out street lights.

A bulldozer that was commandeered by the mob at one point was parked in front of the Lyceum Building where it had stalled.

A fire truck which students manned in a tug-of-war with federal marshals who finally captured it also parked in front of the Lyceum. Its hoses were gone, its lights and windshield smashed.

Outside the Lyceum Building a force of battered but sturdy United States marshals still held their firm, thin line.

Nikit Won't Budge

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Khrushchev again today rejected international control over underground nuclear tests—the main issue holding up a test-ban agreement—during a meeting with two Indian peace campaigners.

HEADED FOR AGASSIZ

Sons Renew Trek

HOPE (CP) — Freedomites became trekkers again this weekend, moving 90 miles from Princeton into this village at the head of the Fraser Valley.

It will be a month Tuesday since the Freedomites left their homes in the Kootenay, 300 miles to the east, after announcing their intention of marching on Agassiz, where 68 Freedomite terrorists are held in Mountain Prison.

The Doukhobors have marched and been shuttled westward in cars. Long camping stops were made near Grand Forks and at Bromley Park, a government campsite east of Princeton.

Agassiz, on the north side of the Fraser River, is 35 miles west of Hope.

About 400 of the 1,000-odd Bromley Camp members arrived here Sunday and the rest were expected to follow as quickly as cars could carry them in.

One police officer said there was no traffic trouble as about 20 cars shuttled back and forth Sunday over the Hope-Princeton Highway.

STAY IN PARK

The Doukhobors are staying in Coquihalla Park, a village owned site.

Paul Scherle, chairman of the village commission, said earlier the Sons could use the site for two days before they moved on to Agassiz. He added that now the group is not likely to move until Wednesday at the earliest.

Agassiz is a part of Kent municipality which passed an emergency bylaw two weeks ago saying the Freedomites couldn't enter Agassiz, because their past record of violence constituted a hazard. There was no indication what attempts, if any, will be made to prevent the Sons from entering.

Other bylaws prevent residency by the Sons near Mountain Prison.

FINAL BULLETINS

Giants Lead After Seven

SAN FRANCISCO — Two home runs by Willie Mays and one each by Jim Davenport and Orlando Cepeda, combined with the shutout pitching of lefty Billy Pierce, shot San Francisco Giants into a 5-0 lead after seven innings in the first game of their best-of-three playoff series for the National League pennant.

Airman Feared Drowned Up-Island

An air-sea rescue helicopter and air force ground party are searching for an airman feared to have drowned in a swollen river at Holberg Sunday morning.

The man — whose name is being withheld pending notification of next-of-kin, was said to have been investigating a wash-out which occurred on the road between the Island air base and dock, where heavy rains for the past three days swelled the Goodspeed River.

3 Canadians Held in U.S. for Theft

BELLINGHAM (AP) — Three young Canadians were held in jail here today in connection with the theft of a bottle of whisky from the state liquor store at Blaine Saturday night.

Booked on suspicion of breaking and entering were Robyn L. Davidson, 18, White Rock, B.C., and Roy Alexander Blodgett, 19, Vancouver. The third youth, a 17-year-old from Vancouver, was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Negro Girl Seeks Entry to Ole Miss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jack Greenburg, counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told the New Orleans Statesman today that a second Negro—a girl—is in process of applying for entrance into the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

Kelowna Man Dies in Cariboo Crash

QUESNEL (CP) — A Kelowna man died today when a car driven by his daughter struck a bridge 20 miles north of here. Four others were injured. Names were withheld by RCMP.

Girl Dies in Alaska Highway Mishap

FORT NELSON, B.C. (CP) — An 18-year-old girl died late Sunday when she was pinned beneath her overturned car on the Alaska Highway near here, it was learned today.

RCMP said Margaret Streep of Fort Nelson lost control of her car as it left the road. It flipped over several times.

Troops Used For Meredith

BULLETIN

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett went on radio and television today to plead for the restoration of "law and order" at Oxford and on the University of Mississippi campus.

The governor, in a brief statement this afternoon, called on all outsiders who have come into the state to "please go home" and on all Mississippians to "remain in your homes in your communities."

"Law and order must prevail," said the governor. "I say this with grave concern."

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith, a Negro, enrolled in the University of Mississippi today under the bayoneted rifles of the federal government. Minutes later renewed violence began in downtown Oxford.

Mississippi national guard troops—under federal control by presidential order—fired over the heads of an angry mob in downtown Oxford in a pitched battle.

The Tupelo, Miss., guardsmen drove away a mob from which the sound of firing sounded minutes before, using the threat of bayonets.

The new outbreak of disorder came after a lull in night-long rioting in which two persons—a foreign correspondent and an Oxford resident—were killed.

Federal forces—beefed up to 4,000 men—took over the Courthouse Square of this seething town of 5,283. With bayonets at the ready, they blasted groups of angry youths into rout with tear gas.

Business ground to a virtual halt in the heart of town. Doors to many shops were locked.

Arrests jumped to 150. Officers of the riot-trained military police said many of those taken into custody lived up to 300 miles away.

Roving groups of incensed southerners vented their passions in bitterness over the registration of the 29-year-old Meredith—the first Negro knowingly admitted to Ole Miss in its 114-year history.

SOLEMN CEREMONY

Meredith registered as a student in a solemn 55-minute session with Registrar Robert Ellis that began at 9:15 a.m. as angry students gathered across the street.

Meredith, emerging smiling, the customary placid smile that masks any nervousness he might feel. Immediately he got lost with his U.S. marshal escort en route to his first class, returned to the scene of his registration and left soon thereafter in a caravan of army vehicles.

The 11 hours of violence on the campus during the night officially ended at 7:15 a.m. when Brig. Gen. Charles B. Lingslea, commander of the federal troops in Mississippi, said: "I now declare this area secure."

But, in fact, the bayonets and the gas launchers of his men cleared only the campus and 45 minutes later the first of the resurgent trouble hit the streets of Oxford, close to the guarded fringes of the school itself.

After some building of momentum, unnumbered groups of men and youths—many carrying cartons full of soft drink bottles as ammunition—formed at intersections. The bottles began to fly through windshields and hang against the side of army jeeps, and the cars of passing citizens.

In Washington, the U.S. justice department said that Meredith's entry into the campus Sunday came only after Governor Ross Barnett, leader of his state's resistance, had capitulated by telephone to Attorney-General Robert Kennedy Sunday morning.

WALKER

UNDER ARREST Ex-General Accused of Inciting Mob

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy announced the arrest today of former army major general Edwin Walker on charges of inciting a rebellion or insurrection.

Kennedy said Walker was arrested at a military roadblock near Oxford, Miss., and would be arraigned later today.

The charges against Walker were:

Conspiracy to incite rebellion or insurrection. This carries a maximum penalty of a $20,000 fine and 20 years in prison.

Actually inciting to rebellion or insurrection. This involves a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

WALKER CHANGES SIDES

Little Rock Riots Magnified to War

By RELMAN MORIN
OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Little Rock was a skirmish. Oxford is a war.

The riots just five years ago in the capital of Arkansas were ugly and dangerous. In Oxford, the ugliness and danger is magnified to a gigantic scale.

And one of the ironies of the situation here is that former major-general Edwin A. Walker, who commanded the federal troops that took over Little Rock, is on the opposite side of the fence here.

Walker whipped up the students and others on the campus of the University of Mississippi Sunday night, when it became known that James H. Meredith, Negro, was on the campus.

After the Little Rock riots, Walker said that he found his duty there distasteful.

Bazaar Aids Old Folks' Residence

DUNCAN—The Old Age Pensioners' Organization here will hold a bazaar in the Eagles' Hall Friday to raise funds to establish an old folks' home.

The bazaar will be opened at 2 p.m. by Claude Green, chairman of the Cowichan Hospital committee.

Mrs. John White, secretary of the OAPO, said the organization is still trying to obtain the King's Daughters' Hospital when the new Cowichan District Hospital is built. The money will be used to furnish the building, which is to be both a nursing and boarding home.

Petitions circulated during the summer, Mrs. White explained, were supported by many local service clubs. She said the government would pay part of the costs for the remodeling project.

Mrs. White said the building fund has been in existence for nine years.

The organization, she said, had originally planned to build an old folks' home on Cowichan Lake Road at Skinner's Corner.

Aid reached the men—a party of laborers returning from a roadbuilding project in a strategic area near India's border with Tibet—for the first time since they were trapped in a valley by the slide of ice and rock from a glacier.

Earlier attempts to fly in supplies were foiled by heavy clouds. At least fifty of the trapped Indian and Tibetan workers were reported to have died. Some suffered frostbite and snowblindness and their supplies of food and medicine were low. The laborers, including Tibetan refugees, have been employed by the Indian government on building roads to provide supply routes to Indian forces threatened by Chinese in the Ladakh border area.

CONFESSES 15 DEATHS

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—A small man from Texas walked into a sheriff's office Sunday and calmly confessed to murdering 15 hobo "to put them out of their misery."

Sheriff Sandy Robinson of Tulare County said Milton Taylor Vest, 36, rattled off methods, dates and places of the deaths of transients in California, Arizona and Texas.

"He's not a crank," Sgt. Gabe Rutledge commented. "He knows too much."

Vest, who stands five feet, seven inches, told detectives he stabbed most of his victims but also pushed them off freight trains, set them afire or bludgeoned them.

Fisherman's Condition Termed 'Fair'

Ex-Winnipeg Hurt While Saving Vessel

SIDNEY—Condition of a fisherman injured in a marine accident at the height of last Friday's gale is fair, Rest Haven Hospital officials at Sidney reported today.

Brian Knox, formerly of Winnipeg, suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries when he was jammed between a float and his boat at Sidney Wharf. The accident occurred at about 5 a.m.

Dudley Harvey, 9888-4th Street, a member of Sidney's volunteer fire department, received a head injury while helping to bring Knox to the ambulance.

He was standing on a float which suddenly rose on the crest of a wave, knocking him against a beam at the wharf. Fire Chief Arthur Gardner said the accident occurred when Knox, fearing that his boat would break loose from a float, tried to board the vessel. He jumped and caught hold of the side of his boat. As he hung there a wave sent the float crashing into his back.

King's Men Revolt

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—The central government has declared a state of emergency in the diamond-rich south Kasai province after a new revolt by supporters of self-styled "King" Albert Kalonji.

The United Nations reported they revolted against a faction loyal to the central government.

OFF TEXADA ISLAND

Four Men Escape Swamped Seiner

Four Nanaimo men escaped from the seiner Sea Fury near Texada Island, Saturday and paddled six miles to safety in a skiff.

The 40-foot seiner was swamped off Gillies Bay. "The wind just about swamped us several times," said skipper Larry Grais, 27. "We had all been to sea before and there was no panic. If there had been, not all of us would have made it."

Grais, Ray McCormick, Jerry Duval and Terry Mearns were not hurt.

Grais said the wind hit his seiner at an estimated 50 miles an hour, toppling it over. The men scrambled into the skiff as the bigger vessel sank stern first.

Oars for the skiff were made from a split hatch board. It took the party three and one-half hours to paddle to Texada. With a salvaged can of varnish, the men lit a fire on the beach to get warm. They walked the three miles to Gillies Bay.

The Sea Fury later was salvaged.

NS Savannah, world's first nuclear-powered merchant ship, could cruise 14 times around the earth at up to 23 knots without refueling.

Sick Woman Flown From Holberg In Foul Weather

VANCOUVER (CP)—A sick woman brought to Vancouver Saturday in a perilous RCAF mercy flight from Holberg on northern Vancouver Island was reported Sunday in satisfactory condition in hospital here.

Mrs. Pauline Remillard, wife of an RCAF corporal at the base at Holberg, developed pregnancy complications and doctors advised her transfer to hospital in Vancouver.

Air-Sea Rescue officials said the weather in the Holberg area, 250 miles northwest of Vancouver, was marginal at the time. The cloud ceiling was 500 feet and visibility 1 1/2 miles.

A doctor and nurse accompanied Mrs. Remillard on the flight, which took more than four hours.

A SYMBOL OF QUALITY

How long since you counted up the savings in your Life Insurance?

You probably know the exact amount of family protection that your life insurance represents. But how about the savings in your life and endowment policies?

How much do these total right now? How much will they build up to in the next five years? In ten years? How much by the time you reach age 55, or 60, or 65?

A good many people find, when they look up their cash values, that the amount to their credit—present and prospective—is considerably higher than they expected.

In your permanent life insurance, you have an unexcelled form of savings for the future. Your money is safe—completely safe. You can provide that, even though you should be disabled, your savings will continue to build up, your premiums will be waived, and you will have an income besides. At retirement, you can arrange for paid up protection for life—or you can use all, or part, of your accumulation to provide you with an income that you can never outlive. And at every step of the way, you have guarantees of the amounts at your credit.

You can't have too much of this excellent combination of protection and savings. Are you sure you have enough for both purposes—right now?
